LITTLE JORDAN'S FUTURE NOW HANGS IN BALANCE

Garbage Issue Probably Will Go To Trial

Judge Radcliff Overrules Motion On Injunction

Circleville's garbage controversy probably will go to trial.

Today Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff refused to kill an injunction which keeps George Bidinger of Pike County from becoming exclusive garbage hauler in the city.

The judge's ruling came after a hearing in Common Pleas Court today. The court heard arguments on a motion by Bidinger and the City of Circleville to vacate the injunction.

The city and Bidinger have entered into a contract granting the Pike County man exclusive rights to haul garbage in the city. It also would close the city dump.

However, a group of independent garbage haulers asked for an injunction which prevents the contract from becoming operative. Today's hearing was on whether or not the temporary injunction, granted April 1, should remain in force. The court ruled it should, at least until a trial can be held on the permanent injunction.

* * *

ATTORNEY for Bidinger, Harry Margulis, said following the hearing that he planned to file an answer to the original petition of the independent hauler. This would put the question into a trial situation.

Margulis contended at the hearing today that since the controversy over the ordinance was essentially one of law rather than one of fact, that the injunction should be vacated without a trial on the merits of the case.

Attorney George Young, who along with attorney Ray Davis represented the independent haulers, maintained that in a motion to vacate an injunction, the burden is on the defendents to show that the plaintiffs' allegations in requesting an injunction are untrue.

The independent haulers had alleged in their petition that the ordinance in granting Bidinger exclusive rights "to collect transport and dispose of garbage and to make contracts for the same with individual householders and commercial operators ... delegates to ... (him) legislative authority which can only legally be exercised by the Council of the City of Circleville.

The plaintiffs' also charged that the contract between Bidinger and the city does not conform to the original bid made by Bidinger.

Major Crime Up By 13 Pct.; Youths Linked To About Half

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI said today major U. S. crimes last year increased by 13.3 per cent over 1955, and that nearly half of the arrests in such cases in urban areas were of juveniles under 18.

The statistics were made public in the annual edition of the bureau's Uniform Crime Reports, based on police data from all parts of the country.

They showed an estimated major crime total for last year of 2,563,150. This was up 300,700 from 1955 and marked the first time that crimes in this category passed the 2½-million mark in a single 12-month period.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said:

"A significant factor in this upsurge of crime is the fact that crimes have increased almost four times as fast as the nation's population since 1950."

Hoover, who has been advocating publicizing the names of youths who commit heinous crimes, made this comment on the juvenile offense statistics:

* * *

"ARRESTS of people under 18 increased 17.3 per cent in urban areas. The number of young people in this age group increased only about 3 per cent in 1956. Almost 46 per cent of arrests for major crimes in urban areas were of individuals under 18."

The 1956 report said that on an over-all basis, rural crime rose 15.7 per cent, and there was a 12.7 per cent increase in cities.

On a national basis, robbery alone dropped off, with offenses in this category down 1.3 per cent for the year.

The report listed these increases for other crimes: larceny 16.7 per cent; auto thefts 16.1 per cent; burglaries 6.7 per cent; rape 6.3 per cent; aggravated assault 4 per cent; murder and nonnegligent manslaughter 1.8 per cent; negligent manslaughter 0.7 per cent.

"There was a major crime committed every 12.3 seconds during 1956," the FBI said. "Every 4.1 minutes, there was a crime of murder, manslaughter, rape or assault to kill.

"There were 263,270 automobiles reported stolen during 1956 as compared with 227,150 during 1955. This was an increase of 36,570.

"Victims of killers totaled 12,620, while 116,730 instances of rape or aggravated assault were reported. Robberies totaled 56,770, while 525,720 burglaries were reported."

Government Aide's Case To Be Heard

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has agreed to look into the claim of a government official who says American Airlines did not pay her enough money for losing her luggage.

Mrs. Lottie M. Randolph, special assistant to the Farm and Home Division administrator in the U.S. Department of Agriculture, says the airline paid her only $100 for luggage lost during a vacation trip from Columbus to New Orleans March 21, 1952. She said the luggage was worth $850.

Mrs. Randolph, a former assistant state director of agriculture for Ohio, was awarded the $850 by Franklin County common pleas court. However, an appellate court reduced the figure to $100, contending the airline's liability was limited to $100.

May Primary Gets Ho-Hums From Voters

So far Circleville's May 7 primary has failed to arouse much excitement here, with candidates seeking to win a place on the November general election ballot doing little outward campaigning.

Except in the 3rd Ward, the primary will be a Republican race throughout the city. The 3rd Ward race will see three Democratic candidates for Council battle it out for a spot on the November ballot.

The 3rd Ward running will be between James I. Smith III, Melvin Bass and Merle Huffer.

The mayoralty primary here will center around Republican candidates Robert Hedges, the incumbent, and Harry Coss, Circleville Municipal Court bailiff. Ben Gordon is the lone Democratic candidate.

* * *

IF EITHER of the two Republican candidates for mayor had failed to file for nomination or had withdrawn from the race, a city primary would not be held. The primary will cost the city approximately $1,000.

According to officials at the county board of elections, only four workers will be needed at ward voting locations, except in the 3rd Ward where the normal number of six is needed. Six are needed at the 3rd Ward since two party competition is involved.

U. S. Shows Force In Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States put on a mighty display of force today to back up its warning to Jordan's neighbors against carving up that crisis-ridden Middle Eastern state.

Basic United States policy was laid down by the vacation White House at Augusta, Ga., Wednesday night after President Eisenhower had conferred by phone with Secretary of State Dulles in Washington. The core of that pronouncement was that this country regards "the independence and integrity of Jordan as vital "to U.S. interests and world peace."

Today that statement was backed up by an order to the U.S. 6th Fleet to sail from the western to the eastern Mediterranean. That would put the fleet in position for action if in the President's opinion action became necessary.

The apparent aim was to give young King Hussein a full opportunity to save his country from political collapse with a minimum of outside interference.

Usually well informed officials said that so far as they knew King Hussein has not made any request for the use of force by the U.S.

* * *

FOR THE MOMENT, there was no indication here that Eisenhower and Dulles had any desire to intervene militarily on Jordan's behalf; the indication, diplomatic officials said, was rather that they wanted to remind Middle Eastern countries of U. S. interest, policy and ability to act if necessary.

The fleet order sent the 60,000-ton supercarrier Forrestal, two cruisers and a force of destroyers steaming toward Middle Eastern waters so fast that 150 of the Forrestal's crew, on leave in Paris, were left behind.

Informants here said the official explanation for the move was that the fleet was needed in those waters to remove American nationals should that become desirable.

At the same time, however, officials privately supported the "show of force" explanation and linked the whole operation with the statement given out by the White House Wednesday night.

White House press Secretary James C. Hagerty emphasized that the statement's references to "independence and integrity" and to U. S. interests and world peace followed the wording used by Congress in the Eisenhower resolution authorizing use of American force against Communist or Communist - controlled aggression in the Middle East.

* * *

THIS RAISED a serious question whether the Eisenhower administration is moving toward a finding that Jordan is in trouble because of Communist oppressors and that the United States might therefore intervene.

For the moment, available officials said intervention did not appear to be the administration's intent, although nothing done in the situation so far has ruled out the possibility.

The administration was represented as wanting to put Egypt and Syria primarily, but also Israel and Saudi Arabia, on notice that it was opposed completely to any move to carve up Jordan.

Russians Peeved By U.S. Policies

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has charged that a "hostile campaign" is being conducted against Soviet officials in the United States and that it is "supported and even encouraged by certain American official circles."

The Foreign Ministry called in Richard Davis, U. S. charge d'affaires, Wednesday and handed him a note containing the charges. It said the Soviets expect the U. S. government to create "normal conditions" for Russian officials to discharge their duties.

Davis said he could not obtain any specific examples of the allegations. The only hint he got indicated the Soviet government is annoyed by the recent expulsion of a Soviet Embassy employe in Washington.

Air Target Plunges, Housewife Scratched

MARY ESTHER, Fla. (AP) — A young housewife escaped serious injury when an Air Force tow target crashed through the ceiling of her apartment Wednesday.

The 20-foot target, weighing between 250 and 300 pounds, had ripped loose from a plane at about 15,000 feet. Mrs. R. E. Smith received only scratches and slight cuts.

Senator Doubts Tax Slash Near

Knowland Sees No Bill Passage This Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R - Calif) said today he doubts there will be any tax reduction legislation at this session, even if sharp cuts are made in President Eisenhower's budget.

"It would be more prudent and sound from a fiscal basis to wait until early next year before considering tax reduction," the Republican Senate leader said.

Some Democrats in Congress, among them Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex), have been talking about a tax reduction bill this year to take effect next Jan. 1. House Republican Leader Martin (R-Mass) also has been forecasting a tax cut next year.

Knowand said no one is asking that a tax reduction take effect earlier than next January, and added:

"No responsible member of Congress is suggesting that we should reduce taxes in time of deficit that would just up the national debt.

* * *

"I WOULD apply from two to three billion dollars a year on reduction of the national debt before any tax reduction is considered."

By waiting until next January or later, Knowland said, Congress will have five or six more months to test estimates on government income and spending.

Along that line, he said he wants to look further into Pentagon reports that defense agencies now are spending at a rate of $38 billion this fiscal year, which ends June 30, or some $2 billion higher than had been estimated.

Pentagon officers said there had been a speedup in production of guided missiles and other new weapons.

On other subjects, Knowland said he expects some sort of civil rights legislation during this session, and there is "about a 50-50 chance" of agreement on a federal aid to education program.

King Clamps Martial Law On Country

International Reds Blamed By Monarch For Internal Unrest

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—The future of Jordan hung in the balance today. A new government was named and martial law clamped on the country.

King Hussein declared his intention to fight out the crisis. He blamed international communism for bringing it on.

The United States voiced new support for the independence and integrity of Jordan and ordered its 6th Fleet back into the Eastern Mediterranean.

Today a total curfew was imposed on the capital city of Amman, the old city of Jerusalem, Nablus, Ramallah and Irbid near the Syrian frontier.

Under the decree of martial law police were put under control of the army, whose tough core Bedouin fighters are loyal to King Hussein.

The country's 10 political parties were abolished.

IBRAHIM HASHEM, 83, was chosen to heave a seven-man cabinet of moderates.

The eight-day-old cabinet of Hussein Khalidi resigned Wednesday night after six hours of rioting by mobs inspired by Communists and other extremist factions.

King Hussein insisted in talks with American reporters he did not need outside assistance.

Hussein stressed this again today. He disclosed he would not invite Rep. James P. Richards, special representative of President Eisenhower to Amman to explain the President's Middle East program. Hussein said he would decide "with other Arab states" whether they would accept the Eisenhower program.

The American stand supporting Jordan's integrity, and calling it vital to U. S. interests and world peace, was a restatement of the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Britain joined the United States today in proclaiming Jordan's independence and integrity as "es-

School Board Told To Open Meetings

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court today ordered the board of education in Minford School District, Scioto County, to hold open meetings.

The court granted four residents of the district an alternative writ of mandamus against President Norman Rockwell and other members of the board. They have until May 25 to say why they should not comply.

Statute requires state and local agencies to conduct business in meetings available to the public.

U.N. Due To Study Suez Plan Friday

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Hope was held in some quarters at the U.N. today that Egypt's plan for running the Suez Canal might still be subject to some change. Others felt President Nasser had laid down his final rules for operation of the vital Middle East waterway.

Delegates generally declined on-the-record comment on the plan that provides complete Egyptian control over operations and toll money but calls for arbitration of disputes.

Acting at the request of U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, the Security Council scheduled a session for Friday on the canal issue. Lodge said the council should "take note of the situation regarding passage through the Suez Canal."

A U.S. spokesman said Lodge would report on the recent Egyptian-U.S. canal talks in Cairo and that the council debate would not close the door to future private negotiatons. He said the United States does not plan a resolution calling for any council action, but that the request for the meeting does not mean the United States is in substantial agreement with Egypt.

* * *

THE EGYPTIAN canal plan was submitted to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold by Egyptian Delegate Omar Loutfi for registration as an "international instrument." Egyptian officials insisted it would have the force of an international treaty registered with the United Nations, but the declaration provided no penalties for anyone violating it.

The declaration said Egypt would: (1) maintain free and uninterrupted navigation "within the limits and in accordance with the provisions" of the 1888 Constantinople Convention; (2) collect all tolls, paying the Egyptian government 5 per cent in royalties; (3) establish a fund of 25 per cent of all tolls for canal development; (4) limit toll increases to 1 per cent a year unless negotiations with users provided for more.

The memorandum also said any dispute over canal operation regulations would be referred to a three-man group, one named by the complaining party, one by Egypt's Suez Canal Authority and the third by mutual agreement or by the head of the World Court if there is no agreement.

Disputes on compensation to former canal company shareholders would be arbitrated "in accordance with established international practice." Disputes over interpretation of the 1888 convention or the Egyptian memorandum would go to the World Court if they could not be settled under the U.N. Charter.

In a letter accompanying the Suez declaration, Egypt claimed it was in line with Egypt's understanding of the six principles adopted Oct. 13 by the Security Council for a canal settlement.

An Egyptian delegation spokesman said Israeli ships "definitely" will continue to be barred from the canal. The Egyptians argue that such action does not violate the 1888 convention, which authorizes certain defense measures. Egypt has refused to let Israeli ships use the canal on grounds that a technical state of war still exists between the two countries.

New Data Seen In Vice Probe

Justice Agency Asked To Say Who Is Liar

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fresh information which Sen. McClellan(D-Ark) said may help show who was lying was sent to the Justice Department today along with conflicting testimony of a prostitute and a deputy sheriff.

McCelland declined to give any details of the additional information, except to say it went beyond that heard publicly by the special Senate committee he is directing in a probe of improper labor-management activities.

He concluded a one-day hearing Wednesday with the comment that "I'm getting a little tired of this committee being imposed on by liars." He asked "appropriate action" by the Justice Department, and said this could be a perjury indictment.

Wednesday's session was a postscript to earlier public hearings on vice and corruption in Portland, Ore., and involved the credibility of the committee's key witness in the probe, Portland racketeer James B. (Big Jim) Elkins.

* * *

MRS. KATHLEEN Lucille Cooper Weeks, 25, an admitted prostitute, testified she had sworn falsely in an affidavit that Elkins was mixed up in narcotics and prostitution in Portland.

She said she did so because of threats by Deputy Sheriff George Minielly that she would be sent to jail if she refused. She said Minielly suggested the answers she put in the affidavit.

Minielly then swore that this turnabout in her testimony was "the greatest hoax ever pushed onto the American public." He alleged that she changed her story under a threat from Oregon's Asst. Atty. Gen. Arthur Kaplan that she might be prosecuted for perjury. Minielly denounced Kaplan as "a mental case."

Lawyer Opposes Courtroom Photos

CLEVELAND (AP)—Allowing news photographers to take pictures while courts are in session would destroy the "quiet and dignity of the forum," lawyer William Corrigan told the Cuyahoga County Bar Assn., here Wednesday.

"Open the courts to newspaper photography, and radio and television will not be far behind," Corrigan said. "then trials will fall to the levels of spectacles and be given the same lurid treatment that we witness in the reporting of sex and violence."

Corrigan was chief defense attorney for Dr. Samuel Sheppard, convicted of second degree murder in the bludgeon death of his wife, Marilyn. The conviction was appealed unsuccessfully on the basis that newspapers and television turned the trial into a "Roman holiday."

5 Teen-Age Boys Flee County Jail In Dayton

DAYTON (AP) — Montgomery County authorities are seeking five boys, ranging from 13 to 17, who escaped Wednesday night from the 100-year-old county jail. Sheriff's deputies said the five punched a hole in the ceiling of a third floor cell, squeezed through the opening to the roof and fled down a stairway at the adjacent Montgomery County Courthouse.

Ike Calls Labor Racketeers 'Not Fit To Hold Office'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower today called labor racketeering "an abomination which must be eliminated." He said union leaders who abuse power and trust "are not fit to hold union offices."

Eisenhower expressed those views in a statement after a 90 minute conference here with Secretary of Labor Mitchell. The President called for swift enactment of legislation to provide for:

1. Registration, reporting and public disclosure of full data on union health and welfare funds. The administration already has a bill before Congress to take care of that.

2. Public disclosure of all other financial records of unions, including such items as dues collected, the salaries of union officials, and the amount of money in union treasuries.

In his statement the President said the administration has followed "with intense interest" the efforts of a Senate special committee "to bring to light disclosures of corrupt practices and abuses by officers and members of some labor unions." Eisenhower added:

"Labor racketeering, like corruption anywhere, is an abomination which must be eliminated if and whenever it occurs. Any officer and employe of labor—and it appears there have been few—who abuse the power and trust imposed upon them are not fit to hold union offices.

"The American working man and woman deserve from labor leadership high standards of trust and fidelity."

A highlight of the Senate committee's activities so far has been it's inquiry into the financial operations of Dave Beck, chief of the AFL-CIO Teamsters union. Beck declined to answer questions in that field. He invoked the Fifth Amendment on grounds that replies might tend to incriminate him.

At the Mitchell news conference a reporter noted that Eisenhower in his statement said it appears a few labor leaders have abused power and trust.

Asked whether that applied to Beck, Mitchell replied:

"I am not going to get into personalities and I am not going to prejudge."

In the 1956 election campaign Beck supported Eisenhower for a second term. Replying to a question, Mitchell said that support was "completely unsolicited" by the administration, and added:

"I suppose Mr. Beck has a right to determine whom he wants to vote for as an American citizen."

Mitchell also indicated the administration would not welcome Beck's support again if Eisenhower were running for office at this time.

U. S. Shows Force In Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States put on a mighty display of force today to back up its warning to Jordan's neighbors against carving up that crisis-ridden Middle Eastern state.

Basic United States policy was laid down by the vacation White House at Augusta, Ga., Wednesday night after President Eisenhower had conferred by phone with Secretary of State Dulles in Washington. The core of that pronouncement was that this country regards "the independence and integrity of Jordan as vital "to U.S. interests and world peace."

Today that statement was backed up by an order to the U.S. 6th Fleet to sail from the western to the eastern Mediterranean. That would put the fleet in position for action if in the President's opinion action became necessary.

The apparent aim was to give young King Hussein a full opportunity to save his country from political collapse with a minimum of outside interference.

Usually well informed officials said that so far as they knew King Hussein has not made any request for the use of force by the U.S.

* * *

FOR THE MOMENT, there was no indication here that Eisenhower and Dulles had any desire to intervene militarily on Jordan's behalf; the indication, diplomatic officials said, was rather that they wanted to remind Middle Eastern countries of U. S. interest, policy and ability to act if necessary.

The fleet order sent the 60,000-ton supercarrier Forrestal, two cruisers and a force of destroyers steaming toward Middle Eastern waters so fast that 150 of the Forrestal's crew, on leave in Paris, were left behind.

Informants here said the official explanation for the move was that the fleet was needed in those waters to remove American nationals should that become desirable.

At the same time, however, officials privately supported the "show of force" explanation and linked the whole operation with the statement given out by the White House Wednesday night.

White House press Secretary James C. Hagerty emphasized that the statement's references to "independence and integrity" and to U. S. interests and world peace followed the wording used by Congress in the Eisenhower resolution authorizing use of American force against Communist or Communist - controlled aggression in the Middle East.

* * *

THIS RAISED a serious question whether the Eisenhower administration is moving toward a finding that Jordan is in trouble because of Communist oppressors and that the United States might therefore intervene.

For the moment, available officials said intervention did not appear to be the administration's intent, although nothing done in the situation so far has ruled out the possibility.

The administration was represented as wanting to put Egypt and Syria primarily, but also Israel and Saudi Arabia, on notice that it was opposed completely to any move to carve up Jordan.

Russians Peeved By U.S. Policies

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has charged that a "hostile campaign" is being conducted against Soviet officials in the United States and that it is "supported and even encouraged by certain American official circles."

The Foreign Ministry called in Richard Davis, U. S. charge d'affaires, Wednesday and handed him a note containing the charges. It said the Soviets expect the U. S. government to create "normal conditions" for Russian officials to discharge their duties.

Davis said he could not obtain any specific examples of the allegations. The only hint he got indicated the Soviet government is annoyed by the recent expulsion of a Soviet Embassy employe in Washington.

Air Target Plunges, Housewife Scratched

MARY ESTHER, Fla. (AP) — A young housewife escaped serious injury when an Air Force tow target crashed through the ceiling of her apartment Wednesday.

The 20-foot target, weighing between 250 and 300 pounds, had ripped loose from a plane at about 15,000 feet. Mrs. R. E. Smith received only scratches and slight cuts.

Senator Doubts Tax Slash Near

Knowland Sees No Bill Passage This Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R - Calif) said today he doubts there will be any tax reduction legislation at this session, even if sharp cuts are made in President Eisenhower's budget.

"It would be more prudent and sound from a fiscal basis to wait until early next year before considering tax reduction," the Republican Senate leader said.

Some Democrats in Congress, among them Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex), have been talking about a tax reduction bill this year to take effect next Jan. 1. House Republican Leader Martin (R-Mass) also has been forecasting a tax cut next year.

Knowand said no one is asking that a tax reduction take effect earlier than next January, and added:

"No responsible member of Congress is suggesting that we should reduce taxes in time of deficit that would just up the national debt.

* * *

"I WOULD apply from two to three billion dollars a year on reduction of the national debt before any tax reduction is considered."

By waiting until next January or later, Knowland said, Congress will have five or six more months to test estimates on government income and spending.

Along that line, he said he wants to look further into Pentagon reports that defense agencies now are spending at a rate of $38 billion this fiscal year, which ends June 30, or some $2 billion higher than had been estimated.

Pentagon officers said there had been a speedup in production of guided missiles and other new weapons.

On other subjects, Knowland said he expects some sort of civil rights legislation during this session, and there is "about a 50-50 chance" of agreement on a federal aid to education program.

King Clamps Martial Law On Country

Internationl Reds Blamed By Monarch For Internal Unrest

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—The future of Jordan hung in the balance today. A new government was named and martial law clamped on the country.

King Hussein declared his intention to fight out the crisis. He blamed international communism for bringing it on.

The United States voiced new support for the independence and integrity of Jordan and ordered its 6th Fleet back into the Eastern Mediterranean.

Today a total curfew was imposed on the capital city of Amman, the old city of Jerusalem, Nablus, Ramallah and Irbid near the Syrian frontier.

Under the decree of martial law police were put under control of the army, whose tough core Bedouin fighters are loyal to King Hussein.

The country's 10 political parties were abolished.

IBRAHIM HASHEM, 83, was chosen to heave a seven-man cabinet of moderates.

The eight-day-old cabinet of Hussein Khalidi resigned Wednesday night after six hours of rioting by mobs inspired by Communists and other extremist factions.

King Hussein insisted in talks with American reporters he did not need outside assistance.

Hussein stressed this again today. He disclosed he would not invite Rep. James P. Richards, special representative of President Eisenhower to Amman to explain the President's Middle East program. Hussein said he would decide "with other Arab states" whether they would accept the Eisenhower program.

The American stand supporting Jordan's integrity, and calling it vital to U. S. interests and world peace, was a restatement of the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Britain joined the United States today in proclaiming Jordan's independence and integrity as "es-

School Board Told To Open Meetings

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court today ordered the board of education in Minford School District, Scioto County, to hold open meetings.

The court granted four residents of the district an alternative writ of mandamus against President Norman Rockwell and other members of the board. They have until May 25 to say why they should not comply.

Statute requires state and local agencies to conduct business in meetings available to the public.

U.N. Due To Study Suez Plan Friday

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Hope was held in some quarters at the U.N. today that Egypt's plan for running the Suez Canal might still be subject to some change. Others felt President Nasser had laid down his final rules for operation of the vital Middle East waterway.

Delegates generally declined on-the-record comment on the plan that provides complete Egyptian control over operations and toll money but calls for arbitration of disputes.

Acting at the request of U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, the Security Council scheduled a session for Friday on the canal issue. Lodge said the council should "take note of the situation regarding passage through the Suez Canal."

A U.S. spokesman said Lodge would report on the recent Egyptian-U.S. canal talks in Cairo and that the council debate would not close the door to future private negotiatons. He said the United States does not plan a resolution calling for any council action, but that the request for the meeting does not mean the United States is in substantial agreement with Egypt.

* * *

THE EGYPTIAN canal plan was submitted to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold by Egyptian Delegate Omar Loutfi for registration as an "international instrument." Egyptian officials insisted it would have the force of an international treaty registered with the United Nations, but the declaration provided no penalties for anyone violating it.

The declaration said Egypt would: (1) maintain free and uninterrupted navigation "within the limits and in accordance with the provisions" of the 1888 Constantinople Convention; (2) collect all tolls, paying the Egyptian government 5 per cent in royalties; (3) establish a fund of 25 per cent of all tolls for canal development; (4) limit toll increases to 1 per cent a year unless negotiations with users provided for more.

The memorandum also said any dispute over canal operation regulations would be referred to a three-man group, one named by the complaining party, one by Egypt's Suez Canal Authority and the third by mutual agreement or by the head of the World Court if there is no agreement.

Disputes on compensation to former canal company shareholders would be arbitrated "in accordance with established international practice." Disputes over interpretation of the 1888 convention or the Egyptian memorandum would go to the World Court if they could not be settled under the U.N. Charter.

In a letter accompanying the Suez declaration, Egypt claimed it was in line with Egypt's understanding of the six principles adopted Oct. 13 by the Security Council for a canal settlement.

An Egyptian delegation spokesman said Israeli ships "definitely" will continue to be barred from the canal. The Egyptians argue that such action does not violate the 1888 convention, which authorizes certain defense measures. Egypt has refused to let Israeli ships use the canal on grounds that a technical state of war still exists between the two countries.

New Data Seen In Vice Probe

Justice Agency Asked To Say Who Is Liar

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fresh information which Sen. McClellan(D-Ark) said may help show who was lying was sent to the Justice Department today along with conflicting testimony of a prostitute and a deputy sheriff.

McCelland declined to give any details of the additional information, except to say it went beyond that heard publicly by the special Senate committee he is directing in a probe of improper labor-management activities.

He concluded a one-day hearing Wednesday with the comment that "I'm getting a little tired of this committee being imposed on by liars." He asked "appropriate action" by the Justice Department, and said this could be a perjury indictment.

Wednesday's session was a postscript to earlier public hearings on vice and corruption in Portland, Ore., and involved the credibility of the committee's key witness in the probe, Portland racketeer James B. (Big Jim) Elkins.

* * *

MRS. KATHLEEN Lucille Cooper Weeks, 25, an admitted prostitute, testified she had sworn falsely in an affidavit that Elkins was mixed up in narcotics and prostitution in Portland.

She said she did so because of threats by Deputy Sheriff George Minielly that she would be sent to jail if she refused. She said Minielly suggested the answers she put in the affidavit.

Minielly then swore that this turnabout in her testimony was "the greatest hoax ever pushed onto the American public." He alleged that she changed her story under a threat from Oregon's Asst. Atty. Gen. Arthur Kaplan that she might be prosecuted for perjury. Minielly denounced Kaplan as "a mental case."

Lawyer Opposes Courtroom Photos

CLEVELAND (AP)—Allowing news photographers to take pictures while courts are in session would destroy the "quiet and dignity of the forum," lawyer William Corrigan told the Cuyahoga County Bar Assn., here Wednesday.

"Open the courts to newspaper photography, and radio and television will not be far behind," Corrigan said. "then trials will fall to the levels of spectacles and be given the same lurid treatment that we witness in the reporting of sex and violence."

Corrigan was chief defense attorney for Dr. Samuel Sheppard, convicted of second degree murder in the bludgeon death of his wife, Marilyn. The conviction was appealed unsuccessfully on the basis that newspapers and television turned the trial into a "Roman holiday."

5 Teen-Age Boys Flee County Jail In Dayton

DAYTON (AP) — Montgomery County authorities are seeking five boys, ranging from 13 to 17, who escaped Wednesday night from the 100-year-old county jail. Sheriff's deputies said the five punched a hole in the ceiling of a third floor cell, squeezed through the opening to the roof and fled down a stairway at the adjacent Montgomery County Courthouse.

Ike Calls Labor Racketeers 'Not Fit To Hold Office'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower today called labor racketeering "an abomination which must be eliminated." He said union leaders who abuse power and trust "are not fit to hold union offices."

Eisenhower expressed those views in a statement after a 90 minute conference here with Secretary of Labor Mitchell. The President called for swift enactment of legislation to provide for:

1. Registration, reporting and public disclosure of full data on union health and welfare funds. The administration already has a bill before Congress to take care of that.

2. Public disclosure of all other financial records of unions, including such items as dues collected, the salaries of union officials, and the amount of money in union treasuries.

In his statement the President said the administration has followed "with intense interest" the efforts of a Senate special committee "to bring to light disclosures of corrupt practices and abuses by officers and members of some labor unions." Eisenhower added:

"Labor racketeering, like corruption anywhere, is an abomination which must be eliminated if and whenever it occurs. Any officer and employe of labor—and it appears there have been few—who abuse the power and trust imposed upon them are not fit to hold union offices.

"The American working man and woman deserve from labor leadership high standards of trust and fidelity."

A highlight of the Senate committee's activities so far has been it's inquiry into the financial operations of Dave Beck, chief of the AFL-CIO Teamsters union. Beck declined to answer questions in that field. He invoked the Fifth Amendment on grounds that replies might tend to incriminate him.

At the Mitchell news conference a reporter noted that Eisenhower in his statement said it appears a few labor leaders have abused power and trust.

Asked whether that applied to Beck, Mitchell replied:

"I am not going to get into personalities and I am not going to prejudge."

In the 1956 election campaign Beck supported Eisenhower for a second term. Replying to a question, Mitchell said that support was "completely unsolicited" by the administration, and added:

"I suppose Mr. Beck has a right to determine whom he wants to vote for as an American citizen."

Mitchell also indicated the administration would not welcome Beck's support again if Eisenhower were running for office at this time.

Officials End Coupon Sales

Chief of Police Elmer Merriman and County Prosecutor William Ammer today put an end to the sale of merchandise and service coupon books being sold to residents here.

The sale of the coupons, supposedly with the backing of local merchants, was being conducted by T. O. Cummings, a representative from American Advertising Inc., Kehosha, Wis.

Action on the part of Merriman and Ammer resulted after the local police station received many complaints from residents who said they were misled in buying the coupons.

According to Cummings, his program here was to promote better business in Circleville. However, many local merchants said they only went along with the plan in order to keep Cummings away from their stores.

Chief Merriman said Cummings started soliciting from local merchants on April 7. He outwardly violated the law by not taking out a license until April 22, the Chief added.

Voting Machine Bill Studied By Ohio House

Approval Of Pint-Size Punch-Card System Sought By Inventor

COLUMBUS (AP) — A politician-inventor has a new voting machine ready for the market and the Ohio House votes today on a proposal to legalize its use.

The politician is Martin A. Coyle of Hamilton, chairman of the Butler County Republican Committee and former executive secretary to John W. Brown who occupied the governor's office for 11 days last January.

The pint-sized voting machine Coyle has developed operates on a punch-card system under which all vote counting would be done by machine at the board of elections in any county using the machines.

Original cost of the machines, Coyle says, would be about one-half that of standard-sized machines. Coyle's machine is about 12 inches wide and 30 inches high, a factor he says could reduce between-elections storage problems.

The House vote on a bill to change election laws to allow use of machines such as Coyle's highlighted an otherwise drab calendar in the Legislature.

In major actions Wednesday:

THE SENATE passed and sent to the House a proposed constitutional amendment to remove the requirement that a newcomer to Ohio must live in the state a year before being eligible to vote for President and Vice President. The measure is subject to a House vote and approval at the polls.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to regulate peacetime atomic energy development in Ohio. The measure provides for a $12,000-a-year coordinator and an 11-member advisory board.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to increase the number of driver license examiners in Ohio from 75 to 150. It was described as a move to eliminate "four to five week" waiting periods to take examinations.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill providing that appeals by old age pensioners may be carried direct to the welfare director rather than the chief of the Division of Aid for the Aged.

The Senate Taxation Committee recommended a bill to require uniform municipal income taxes. The bill sets a limit of one per cent on such taxes unless approved by a 55 per cent vote at general elections and 60 per cent at special elections.

On another income tax measure, the same committee voted to recommend passage of a joint resolution asking Congress to submit to the states an amendment to the U. S. Constitution placing a 25 per cent limit on federal income taxes. A similar measure was approved by the Senate four years ago, but "got lost" in the House.

The Senate Taxation Committee also recommended a bill to continue the utility excise tax for poor relief for two more years.

Trouble Seen In Selecting Top Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said today the special committee to name five former senators for a hall of fame could save itself a lot of trouble by limiting itself to those who served before 1900.

"If we pick some of the more recent senators then there always will be someone around who knew them and thinks they didn't wear any wings," he said.

The committee, which is to meet early next week to make its final selections, plans to decide first whether to include senators who served in the 20th century.

Portraits of the five senators finally chosen will be hung in a reception chamber just off the Senate floor.

Among others mentioned from the pre-1900 period is John Sherman of Ohio.

The 20th century senators who have support include Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, Robert A. Taft of Ohio, and Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan.

The resolution setting up the special committee authorized selection of any member of the Senate in its 168 years. However, living ex-senators are not eligible.

Race Track Ousts Ohio Owner, Pilot

TOLEDO (AP)—Officials at Fort Miami Race Track Wednesday suspended an owner and a trainer and ordered their four horses removed from the grounds.

A report of the track's official chemist said that a urine sample taken from Richeliew after the horse won the second race Saturday contained a stimulant "of the nature of caffeine."

The owner is Russell Spangler of Columbus and the trainer is William Brady of Lancaster.

Girl Scout, Brownie Meet Planned At 8 p.m. Tonight

Formation of new Brownie and Girl Scout Troops will be discussed at an organizational meeting at 8 p. m. tonight in First Methodist Church.

These troops will be set up this spring so they can get started promptly in the fall when school re-opens. This is the only meeting of this nature to be held for new troop organization. Those wishing their daughters to enter scouting should attend. A good representation of fathers, as well as mothers, is urged.

A troop must have at least eight and not more than 16 girls, a leader, and an assistant leader, who are qualified for the work. A troop committee of three or four mothers or fathers who can work along with the leader when help is needed in various activities of the troop is needed also.

Scouting in the Pickaway County area is divided into two neighborhood groups which are known by the names of "Logan" and "Five Trails" neighborhoods. Both of these neighborhoods are combining their troop organizational meeting at the Methodist Church tonight.

Prosecutor Shuns Any Tie To Hassle

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—The district attorney's office has made a discreet withdrawal from the affairs of Yuma Sumac and her estranged husband after listening to approximately 12 versions of Tuesday's brawl between the Peruvian pair and friends.

"I will issue no complaint, that's definite," said Deputy Dist. Atty. Allan H. McCurdy Wednesday. "Both sides tell completely opposite stories."

The hair-pulling, face-slapping spree was touched off when Miss Sumac, accompanied by three private detectives, called on her husband, Moises Vivanco, to collect some of her belongings.

State Calling Witnesses In Cincy Trial

CINCINNATI (AP) — More than a score of state witnesses were on call today in the trial of Lemuel Trotter, charged with first degree murder in the slaying of detective Walter Hart Sept. 19, 1955.

Hart was killed as he attempted to thwart the holdup of a downtown cafe. One man, charged with murder in the case, already has been convicted and sentenced to death. Another has been sent to the Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

Three patrons of the cafe identified Trotter Wednesday and described the type of gun he was carrying.

Prior to the first testimony, defense attorneys said they "couldn't get a clear picture of the circumstances until just a few hours ago." Trotter previously refused to confer with his court-appointed lawyers.

Defense attorney Harry A. Abrams claimed the shooting was accidental. He declared Trotter fell to the floor behind the bar "and, in falling, his gun went off accidentally."

Prosecutor C. Watson Hover said Hart was shot as his back was turned to Trotter and that Trotter had ample time to escape without firing a shot.

Trotter was a fugitive until several weeks ago when he was arrested at Selma, Ala.

New Industry In Southeast Ohio Booming

CLARINGTON (AP)—New industry that will pay more than $10 million a year to 2,200 workers is shaping up well along the Ohio river.

It is the $50 million aluminum plant being erected on an 1,100-acre site four miles south of here.

When it begins production within seven months, it will convert this piece of "Little Switzerland" in Monroe County into an important part of the American industrial scene.

Newsmen made a tour of the huge site Wednesday.

What they saw made some think that Seabees of World War II fame had landed on the banks of the Ohio River. Huge machines chewed away at the earth. Others hauled it away on the double. Structural iron workers, bricklayers, carpenters and other workmen scurried about their jobs.

Actually, there are two plants. They are the aluminum reduction plant which will be jointly owned by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. and Revere Copper & Brass, Inc; and the fabricating plant being built by Olin Mathieson.

Olin Mathieson officials say that when the plants reach full production in 1958 they will add 180,000 tons of aluminum a year to the country's supply and make Olin Mathieson the fourth largest manufacturer in the industry.

Enns was stricken by polio in 1952. With an engineer friend, he turned out a device by which he can steer a car with his left foot while operating all other controls with his right. He is licensed to drive in California.

Crazed Thug Loses Duel With Officer

MURRAY, Ky. (AP) — A courageous police chief who drew the fire of a crazed gunman seconds before the gunman was shot to death was reported in critical condition today.

Chief Novel McReynolds was shot six times in a gun duel with 41-year-old Preston Moore Wednesday night.

Moore, shouting and waving a gun, had spread a wave of terror, threatening to kill the mayor and "all officials of this county."

Moore stormed into a courtroom in the police station. He forced patrolman O. D. Warren at gunpoint to take him to the station's front office, where, he said, he wanted to use a telephone.

Just then McReynolds and Assistant Fire Chief Logan Bland arrived on the scene.

Moore trained his gun on them and threatened to kill all the town's authorities.

Suddenly McReynolds, unarmed at the time, reached over and grabbed patrolman Warren's gun.

Moore opened fire and the chief dropped. From the floor, McReynolds emptied the gun into Moore. Four other patrolmen who had run into the room also drew their guns and blazed away.

Earlier in the day, officers said, Moore had gone to visit a woman friend. They said she was roughed up and threatened to call the police.

After that, officers said, Moore went berserk and went into town with his gun.

Officials End Coupon Sales

Chief of Police Elmer Merriman and County Prosecutor William Ammer today put an end to the sale of merchandise and service coupon books being sold to residents here.

The sale of the coupons, supposedly with the backing of local merchants, was being conducted by T. O. Cummings, a representative from American Advertising Inc., Kehosha, Wis.

Action on the part of Merriman and Ammer resulted after the local police station received many complaints from residents who said they were misled in buying the coupons.

According to Cummings, his program here was to promote better business in Circleville. However, many local merchants said they only went along with the plan in order to keep Cummings away from their stores.

Chief Merriman said Cummings started soliciting from local merchants on April 7. He outwardly violated the law by not taking out a license until April 22, the Chief added.

Voting Machine Bill Studied By Ohio House

Approval Of Pint-Size Punch-Card System Sought By Inventor

COLUMBUS (AP) — A politician-inventor has a new voting machine ready for the market and the Ohio House votes today on a proposal to legalize its use.

The politician is Martin A. Coyle of Hamilton, chairman of the Butler County Republican Committee and former executive secretary to John W. Brown who occupied the governor's office for 11 days last January.

The pint-sized voting machine Coyle has developed operates on a punch-card system under which all vote counting would be done by machine at the board of elections in any county using the machines.

Original cost of the machines, Coyle says, would be about one-half that of standard-sized machines. Coyle's machine is about 12 inches wide and 30 inches high, a factor he says could reduce between-elections storage problems.

The House vote on a bill to change election laws to allow use of machines such as Coyle's highlighted an otherwise drab calendar in the Legislature.

In major actions Wednesday:

* * *

THE SENATE passed and sent to the House a proposed constitutional amendment to remove the requirement that a newcomer to Ohio must live in the state a year before being eligible to vote for President and Vice President. The measure is subject to a House vote and approval at the polls.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to regulate peacetime atomic energy development in Ohio. The measure provides for a $12,000-a-year coordinator and an 11-member advisory board.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to increase the number of driver license examiners in Ohio from 75 to 150. It was described as a move to eliminate "four to five week" waiting periods to take examinations.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill providing that appeals by old age pensioners may be carried direct to the welfare director rather than the chief of the Division of Aid for the Aged.

The Senate Taxation Committee recommended a bill to require uniform municipal income taxes. The bill sets a limit of one per cent on such taxes unless approved by a 55 per cent vote at general elections and 60 per cent at special elections.

On another income tax measure, the same committee voted to recommend passage of a joint resolution asking Congress to submit to the states an amendment to the U. S. Constitution placing a 25 per cent limit on federal income taxes. A similar measure was approved by the Senate four years ago, but "got lost" in the House.

The Senate Taxation Committee also recommended a bill to continue the utility excise tax for poor relief for two more years.

Trouble Seen In Selecting Top Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said today the special committee to name five former senators for a hall of fame could save itself a lot of trouble by limiting itself to those who served before 1900.

"If we pick some of the more recent senators then there always will be someone around who knew them and thinks they didn't wear any wings," he said.

The committee, which is to meet early next week to make its final selections, plans to decide first whether to include senators who served in the 20th century.

Portraits of the five senators finally chosen will be hung in a reception chamber just off the Senate floor.

Among others mentioned from the pre-1900 period is John Sherman of Ohio.

The 20th century senators who have support include Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, Robert A. Taft of Ohio, and Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan.

The resolution setting up the special committee authorized selection of any member of the Senate in its 168 years. However, living ex-senators are not eligible.

Race Track Ousts Ohio Owner, Pilot

TOLEDO (AP)—Officials at Fort Miami Race Track Wednesday suspended an owner and a trainer and ordered their four horses removed from the grounds.

A report of the track's official chemist said that a urine sample taken from Richeliew after the horse won the second race Saturday contained a stimulant "of the nature of caffeine."

The owner is Russell Spangler of Columbus and the trainer is William Brady of Lancaster.

Girl Scout, Brownie Meet Planned At 8 p.m. Tonight

Formation of new Brownie and Girl Scout Troops will be discussed at an organizational meeting at 8 p. m. tonight in First Methodist Church.

These troops will be set up this spring so they can get started promptly in the fall when school re-opens. This is the only meeting of this nature to be held for new troop organization. Those wishing their daughters to enter scouting should attend. A good representation of fathers, as well as mothers, is urged.

A troop must have at least eight and not more than 16 girls, a leader, and an assistant leader, who are qualified for the work. A troop committee of three or four mothers or fathers who can work along with the leader when help is needed in various activities of the troop is needed also.

Scouting in the Pickaway County area is divided into two neighborhood groups which are known by the names of "Logan" and "Five Trails" neighborhoods. Both of these neighborhoods are combining their troop organizational meeting at the Methodist Church tonight.

Prosecutor Shuns Any Tie To Hassle

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—The district attorney's office has made a discreet withdrawal from the affairs of Yuma Sumac and her estranged husband after listening to approximately 12 versions of Tuesday's brawl between the Peruvian pair and friends.

"I will issue no complaint, that's definite," said Deputy Dist. Atty. Allan H. McCurdy Wednesday. "Both sides tell completely opposite stories."

The hair-pulling, face-slapping spree was touched off when Miss Sumac, accompanied by three private detectives, called on her husband, Moises Vivanco, to collect some of her belongings.

State Calling Witnesses In Cincy Trial

CINCINNATI (AP) — More than a score of state witnesses were on call today in the trial of Lemuel Trotter, charged with first degree murder in the slaying of detective Walter Hart Sept. 19, 1955.

Hart was killed as he attempted to thwart the holdup of a downtown cafe. One man, charged with murder in the case, already has been convicted and sentenced to death. Another has been sent to the Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

Three patrons of the cafe identified Trotter Wednesday and described the type of gun he was carrying.

Prior to the first testimony, defense attorneys said they "couldn't get a clear picture of the circumstances until just a few hours ago." Trotter previously refused to confer with his court-appointed lawyers.

Defense attorney Harry A. Abrams claimed the shooting was accidental. He declared Trotter fell to the floor behind the bar "and, in falling, his gun went off accidentally."

Prosecutor C. Watson Hover said Hart was shot as his back was turned to Trotter and that Trotter had ample time to escape without firing a shot.

Trotter was a fugitive until several weeks ago when he was arrested at Selma, Ala.

sential" for the peace of the Middle East.

Troops of Saudi Arabia and Syria came into parts of Jordan last fall and have remained there. Today travelers reaching Damascus reported Hussein was using Saudi troops to quell riots west of the River Jordan.

Hussein broadcast to his people for a half hour today.

He spoke out against Communists, calling them "spies behind our lines."

He declared, "I found it wise to get rid of" the cabinet of Suleiman Nabulsi.

EX-PREMIER Nabulsi was a member of the Khalidi cabinet. He is not in the new government.

"Communists in Jordan are brothers and collaborators of Communist Jews who take their instruction from Tel Aviv, the center of communism in the Middle East. These people became spies for our enemy. None can trust them except those who don't care for Arab nationalism."

Hussein called on Egyptians to stop attacking him and "inventing stories particularly concerning the army."

Martial law was entirely effective here. Nobody was allowed to leave his home without special permission. Activities in five major cities, including the capital, came to a virtual standstill. Only law enforcement personnel vehicles and a few officials were permitted to move about.

New Industry In Southeast Ohio Booming

CLARINGTON (AP)—New industry that will pay more than $10 million a year to 2,200 workers is shaping up well along the Ohio river.

It is the $50 million aluminum plant being erected on an 1,100-acre site four miles south of here.

When it begins production within seven months, it will convert this piece of "Little Switzerland" in Monroe County into an important part of the American industrial scene.

Newsmen made a tour of the huge site Wednesday.

What they saw made some think that Seabees of World War II fame had landed on the banks of the Ohio River. Huge machines chewed away at the earth. Others hauled it away on the double. Structural iron workers, bricklayers, carpenters and other workmen scurried about their jobs.

Actually, there are two plants. They are the aluminum reduction plant which will be jointly owned by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. and Revere Copper & Brass, Inc; and the fabricating plant being built by Olin Mathieson.

Olin Mathieson officials say that when the plants reach full production in 1958 they will add 180,000 tons of aluminum a year to the country's supply and make Olin Mathieson the fourth largest manufacturer in the industry.

Foot Steering Gear Used By Inventor

NEW YORK (AP)—A 26-year-old polio victim who lost the use of his arms, drove across the continent in six days in a car equipped with foot steering controls.

Enns was stricken by polio in 1952. With an engineer friend, he turned out a device by which he can steer a car with his left foot while operating all other controls with his right. He is licensed to drive in California.

Sales for the first three months totaled $3,076,974,030 — four-tenths of one per cent higher than in the first three months of 1956.

Crazed Thug Loses Duel With Officer

MURRAY, Ky. (AP) — A courageous police chief who drew the fire of a crazed gunman seconds before the gunman was shot to death was reported in critical condition today.

Chief Novel McReynolds was shot six times in a gun duel with 41-year-old Preston Moore Wednesday night.

Moore, shouting and waving a gun, had spread a wave of terror, threatening to kill the mayor and "all officials of this county."

Moore stormed into a courtroom in the police station. He forced patrolman O. D. Warren at gunpoint to take him to the station's front office, where, he said, he wanted to use a telephone.

Just then McReynolds and Assistant Fire Chief Logan Bland arrived on the scene.

Moore trained his gun on them and threatened to kill all the town's authorities.

Suddenly McReynolds, unarmed at the time, reached over and grabbed patrolman Warren's gun.

Moore opened fire and the chief dropped. From the floor, McReynolds emptied the gun into Moore. Four other patrolmen who had run into the room also drew their guns and blazed away.

Earlier in the day, officers said, Moore had gone to visit a woman friend. They said she was roughed up and threatened to call the police.

After that, officers said, Moore went berserk and went into town with his gun.

No Need To Hit Pickle Barrel

Occasionally the very efficiency and technical advances of the United States work against the nation's interests.

A case in point is offered by Maj. Gen. R. M. Montgomery, deputy commander of the Second Air Force, speaking in Kansas City. He noted that nearly all of the United States has been accurately surveyed and mapped while Russia has not been.

"A target may be in a different place on a map than it is on the ground," he said. "In the last war we found that some of the islands were not where we thought they were, and some of the mountains weren't as high as the maps showed them to be."

This inaccuracy of maps increases the airman's difficulties. But how about those of the guided missile expert?

When some ground-bound "missile-driver" aims an ICBM at a bomb factory in the Ural Mountains he may hit a corset factory in the Soviet steppes. And not necessarily because the Russians moved the scenery—but because a mapmaker years ago made a mistake that has been copied through the years.

But any Soviet agent can buy an accurate map of nearly any place in America from the U. S. government. Then Moscow can aim its missiles with accuracy.

There are redeeming elements, though. First, with a space satellite and aerial-photo techniques of today, the U. S. should have accurate photos of Russia in a few years.

And second, the "pickle barrel" technique—dropping a bomb in the proverbial barrel—is less necessary now than it was in the past. With a bomb that will destroy an area 10 miles across, what does it matter that it misses by a mile?

Buster's Fall Didn't Hurt

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"I have no sore spots," said Buster Keaton, who spent his rainy day money while the sun was still shining.

The deadpan comedian went up like a rocket, then down like an anchor into the waters of oblivion, where the solitary has-beens swim alone with dim memories.

But at 61 Buster has bobbed to the surface. He's chipper and back in the chips. He bought a ranch home in San Fernando Valley with $50,000 paid him for the rights to "The Buster Keaton Story," and television magnates are waving lettuce at him again.

Keaton, who was given the nickname "Buster" at the age of 6 months by Harry Houdini, was born offstage during a one-night stand made by his vaudeville parents in Piqua, Kan. He was a top performer in 1917 when he gave up a $350 a week contract with the Shuberts to accept Fatty Arbuckle's invitation to work with him in Hollywood.

"I didn't even bother to ask what the salary was," said Keaton, a short stocky man easier to jump over than to run around. "It wasn't until payday I found out it was $40 a week.

"But I didn't mind. It was fun. The fun didn't go out of it until making movies became an expensive business."

Keaton loves to recall the free-wheeling era when he, Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd were the comedy kings of their era.

"My salary went from $1,000 a week to $3,500 a week," he said. "In time I had my own studio, and I built a $300,000 house in Beverly Hills. We used to have weekend poker parties where a man would win or lose $50,000 in an evening and either way didn't worry. He could always make another picture."

After his plummet from fame, Keaton became a writer, and outlined comedy routines for Red Skelton and other comedians of a newer day. Then came the years when there were more memories than money, and friendly handouts from those who knew him when were all he had to go on.

A year and a half ago Keaton lay in a veterans hospital, near death from a ruptured throat vein, when he received the offer for his life story.

"Four days later I was out doing falls on a TV show," he said, his features relaxing into a rare smile.

Here's how he rates the top entertainers he has known in his lifetime:

"I have my own pets. Danny Kaye is perhaps the best all-around comedian alive today, but the guy I laughed at most was the original Joe Jackson, the tramp bicyclist.

"The greatest all-around song-and-dance man was George M. Cohan, and the greatest all-around performer was Fred Stone.

"Women? Lucille Ball is the funniest girl in the business today, but the No. one comedienne of all time was Marie Dressler. No one could touch her."

He Doth Protest Too Much

By George Sokolsky

Methinks, Lester Pearson of Canada doth protest too much. He has burgeoned the suicide of Herbert Norman, sad as it is, into a political issue, not only domestically in Canada but internationally between the United States and Canada.

Cut away the diplomatic drippings of his demands and they come down to the proposition that no congressional committee shall ever investigate a Canadian even though what is being investigated is an American matter. Does that mean that no congressional committee is ever to study the Canadian newsprint cartel which is causing so much havoc to the free press of this country?

Does that mean that no congressional committee is ever to investigate the effect upon the United States economy of the Canadian whiskey cartel which does 90 per cent of its business within the United States?

Does Pearson wish that no investigation be made of Canadian fraudulent stocks sold over the counter in the United States and costing the American public, it has been estimated, about $1 million a day?

Lester Pearson must know that years ago when Elizabeth Bentley was testifying about her own Communist activities, she, in executive session, mentioned a Canadian. That testimony has been suppressed for all these years.

I am not saying that I know what was in this testimony taken in executive session before a congressional committee because no one is supposed to know what happens behind those closed doors. But surely no one will deny that there was such testimony by Elizabeth Bentley.

But now that Lester Pearson is risking the normally good relations between Canada and the United States over the suicide of Herbert Norman, would it not be of value to make public everything there is on the subject so that whatever is false may be denied?

It would also be interesting if a Senate committee might bring back to the United States our ambassador to Portugal, James Bonbright, to ask him under oath what he did with the copy of the Bentley testimony which he was instructed to give to the Prime Minister of Canada, who, I understand, never received it.

There is no value in two countries hating each other because someone lied or made a mistake. There is enough trouble in this world without stirring up more for personal or political reasons. Lester Pearson says that he knew that Herbert Norman had "in his student days" associated with Communists.

He says that he investigated and cleared Norman in 1951. Where is the record of such an investigation and such a clearance? As much of Herbert Norman's personal and political activities were in the United States and in Japan in association with Americans, it would have been of value for our people to know, as far back as 1951, that Norman had been investigated and cleared by his own government in some formal manner.

But what would be interesting would be to know if the Canadian Mounties have a copy of Elizabeth Bentley's testimony, made in executive session, and whether they have any corroborative data concerning it or, having checked, they found Miss Bentley's testimony untrue.

It is always sad when a man commits suicide. It is somehow even sadder when a man of talent and promise and high position finds that he has no hope left and he jumps off a roof. There are easier ways of committing suicide. Herbert Norman was making a public demonstration.

It could not be over the fact that he had dined with John K. Emmerson in Beirut, which is the only pertinent testimony before the Eastland Committee. It was too great a deed over too small a fact.

Herbert Norman was making a public demonstration over something enormous, something that really needs looking into. What it is, the public does not know. It could have been many things, one of them, that the ghosts of his "student days" were pressing him against a wall and threatening him in a manner used only by gangsters and Communists.

But why speculate? Why not ask how it happened that Americans and Canadians who were suspected of playing into Soviet Russia's hands in the Far East between 1945 and 1951, were, in 1956, in high posts in the Middle East, which at the moment, Soviet Russia was subjecting to its imperial will? The investigation of that curiosity ought not to stop.

The ordinary lunch of potatoes, vegetables, meat and dessert supplies the body with as much mineral matter as we could get from drinking 250 glasses of water.

Now don't get me wrong. Water is vital for life and you should get plenty. But the fellow with a well in his back yard does not have any better water than you city folk who get your purified water from a lake, river or municipal reservoir.

If your city officials are adding fluorine to the drinking water, it might be of a lot more value than most plain old well water.

No Need To Hit Pickle Barrel

Occasionally the very efficiency and technical advances of the United States work against the nation's interests.

A case in point is offered by Maj. Gen. R. M. Montgomery, deputy commander of the Second Air Force, speaking in Kansas City. He noted that nearly all of the United States has been accurately surveyed and mapped while Russia has not been.

"A target may be in a different place on a map than it is on the ground," he said. "In the last war we found that some of the islands were not where we thought they were, and some of the mountains weren't as high as the maps showed them to be."

This inaccuracy of maps increases the airman's difficulties. But how about those of the guided missile expert?

When some ground-bound "missile-driver" aims an ICBM at a bomb factory in the Ural Mountains he may hit a corset factory in the Soviet steppes. And not necessarily because the Russians moved the scenery—but because a mapmaker years ago made a mistake that has been copied through the years.

But any Soviet agent can buy an accurate map of nearly any place in America from the U. S. government. Then Moscow can aim its missiles with accuracy.

There are redeeming elements, though. First, with a space satellite and aerial-photo techniques of today, the U. S. should have accurate photos of Russia in a few years.

And second, the "pickle barrel" technique—dropping a bomb in the proverbial barrel—is less necessary now than it was in the past. With a bomb that will destroy an area 10 miles across, what does it matter that it misses by a mile?

Buster's Fall Didn't Hurt

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"I have no sore spots," said Buster Keaton, who spent his rainy day money while the sun was still shining.

The deadpan comedian went up like a rocket, then down like an anchor into the waters of oblivion, where the solitary has-beens swim alone with dim memories.

But at 61 Buster has bobbed to the surface. He's chipper and back in the chips. He bought a ranch home in San Fernando Valley with $50,000 paid him for the rights to "The Buster Keaton Story," and television magnates are waving lettuce at him again.

Keaton, who was given the nickname "Buster" at the age of 6 months by Harry Houdini, was born offstage during a one-night stand made by his vaudeville parents in Piqua, Kan. He was a top performer in 1917 when he gave up a $350 a week contract with the Shuberts to accept Fatty Arbuckle's invitation to work with him in Hollywood.

"I didn't even bother to ask what the salary was," said Keaton, a short stocky man easier to jump over than to run around. "It wasn't until payday I found out it was $40 a week.

"But I didn't mind. It was fun. The fun didn't go out of it until making movies became an expensive business."

Keaton loves to recall the free-wheeling era when he, Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd were the comedy kings of their era.

"My salary went from $1,000 a week to $3,500 a week," he said. "In time I had my own studio, and I built a $300,000 house in Beverly Hills. We used to have weekend poker parties where a man would win or lose $50,000 in an evening and either way didn't worry. He could always make another picture."

After his plummet from fame, Keaton became a writer, and outined comedy routines for Red Skelton and other comedians of a newer day. Then came the years when there were more memories than money, and friendly handouts from those who knew him when were all he had to go on.

A year and a half ago Keaton lay in a veterans hospital, near death from a ruptured throat vein, when he received the offer for his life story.

"Four days later I was out doing falls on a TV show," he said, his features relaxing into a rare smile.

Here's how he rates the top entertainers he has known in his lifetime:

"I have my own pets. Danny Kaye is perhaps the best all-around comedian alive today, but the guy I laughed at most was the original Joe Jackson, the tramp bicyclist.

"The greatest all-around song-and-dance man was George M. Cohan, and the greatest all-around performer was Fred Stone.

"Women? Lucille Ball is the funniest girl in the business today, but the No. one comedienne of all time was Marie Dressler. No one could touch her."

He Doth Protest Too Much

By George Sokolsky

Methinks, Lester Pearson of Canada doth protest too much. He has burgeoned the suicide of Herbert Norman, sad as it is, into a political issue, not only domestically in Canada but internationally between the United States and Canada.

Cut away the diplomatic drippings of his demands and they come down to the proposition that no congressional committee shall ever investigate a Canadian even though what is being investigated is an American matter. Does that mean that no congressional committee is ever to study the Canadian newsprint cartel which is causing so much havoc to the free press of this country?

Does that mean that no congressional committee is ever to investigate the effect upon the United States economy of the Canadian whiskey cartel which does 90 per cent of its business within the United States?

Does Pearson wish that no investigation be made of Canadian fraudulent stocks sold over the counter in the United States and costing the American public, it has been estimated, about $1 million a day?

Lester Pearson must know that years ago when Elizabeth Bentley was testifying about her own Communist activities, she, in executive session, mentioned a Canadian. That testimony has been suppressed for all these years.

I am not saying that I know what was in this testimony taken in executive session before a congressional committee because no one is supposed to know what happens behind those closed doors. But surely no one will deny that there was such testimony by Elizabeth Bentley.

But now that Lester Pearson is risking the normally good relations between Canada and the United States over the suicide of Herbert Norman, would it not be of value to make public everything there is on the subject so that whatever is false may be denied?

It would also be interesting if a Senate committee might bring back to the United States our ambassador to Portugal, James Bonbright, to ask him under oath what he did with the copy of the Bentley testimony which he was instructed to give to the Prime Minister of Canada, who, I understand, never received it.

There is no value in two countries hating each other because someone lied or made a mistake. There is enough trouble in this world without stirring up more for personal or political reasons. Lester Pearson says that he knew that Herbert Norman had "in his student days" associated with Communists.

He says that he investigated and cleared Norman in 1951. Where is the record of such an investigation and such a clearance? As much of Herbert Norman's personal and political activities were in the United States and in Japan in association with Americans, it would have been of value for our people to know, as far back as 1951, that Norman had been investigated and cleared by his own government in some formal manner.

But what would be interesting would be to know if the Canadian Mounties have a copy of Elizabeth Bentley's testimony, made in executive session, and whether they have any corroborative data concerning it or, having checked, they found Miss Bentley's testimony untrue.

It is always sad when a man commits suicide. It is somehow even sadder when a man of talent and promise and high position finds that he has no hope left and he jumps off a roof. There are easier ways of committing suicide. Herbert Norman was making a public demonstration.

It could not be over the fact that he had dined with John K. Emmerson in Beirut, which is the only pertinent testimony before the Eastland Committee. It was too great a deed over too small a fact.

Herbert Norman was making a public demonstration over something enormous, something that really needs looking into. What it is, the public does not know. It could have been many things, one of them, that the ghosts of his "student days" were pressing him against a wall and threatening him in a manner used only by gangsters and Communists.

But why speculate? Why not ask how it happened that Americans and Canadians who were suspected of playing into Soviet Russia's hands in the Far East between 1945 and 1951, were, in 1956, in high posts in the Middle East, which at the moment, Soviet Russia was subjecting to its imperial will? NEW EYES FOR THE NEEDY

New Jersey Charity Seeks No Money, Just Your Old Discarded Spectacles

Scouts bring a bushel basket full of old discarded spectacles to New Eyes headquarters.

MILLBURN, N. J.— One of America's most unusual charitable organizations recently announced its goal for 1957—not one red cent! The organization wants no money, but it does want 350,000 pair of old eyeglasses, no matter how battered, old-fashioned or broken.

New Eyes for the Needy, a non-sectarian, non-profit group, salvages the metal in the frames of glasses received as donations to buy new, prescription glasses for people all over the world who need the gift of better sight. It takes about 40 old pairs to buy one new pair.

About 40 women volunteers handle the hundreds of pounds of eyeglasses which are received in each week's mail. A testing committee supervised by a local optician checks lenses to see which may be used again.

New Eyes for the Needy works in the basement of Christ Episcopal church. It never has solicited a dollar in donations, but the thousands of glasses it has salvaged have brought better eyesight to more than 150,000 men, women and children in virtually every corner of the globe.

Missionaries in such far-off places as Africa, Borneo and the Philippines report that people frequently have walked hundreds of miles to obtain a precious pair of glasses. Recently, almost 2,000 pair of sunglasses were sent to Okinawa, where there is a large colony of people suffering leprosy This disease makes the victims eyes extremely sensitive to light.

TESTING KITS, complete with instructions, are sent to remote areas where no eye doctor or optical facilities are available. And in more than one case, the organization has arranged for an optician to visit a backwoods home right here in the United States.

New Eyes for the Needy will help anyone needing glasses, but can't pay for them—whatever his nationality, race or religion. The women work closely with hospitals and welfare agencies to verify the many applications for help which they receive.

The unusual group got started during the depression of the 1930s when the late Mrs. Arthur E. Terry observed that many people applying for relief did not see well enough even to fill out their application forms—much less obtain work!

She began collecting discarded glasses from her friends and before long, her efforts became known and thousands of spectacles began swamping the little Millburn post office.

Mrs. Terry died in 1947. However, the work was continued by the Junior Service league.

This year's goal of 350,000 pair of glasses is the highest ever. Also welcome are discarded jewelry, gold and silver scrap, unwanted household silver—even dental fixtures.

They all will help someone enjoy the blessing of sight.

Dirt In Cloud Said Curb On Rainfall

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dirty clouds are slow to produce rain, two U. S. Weather Bureau scientists say in rapping air pollution.

One of them, Dr. Ross Gunn, reported that new research indicates that air polluted by such things as finely divided industrial and home ashes, and dust from grassless land areas, can delay rainfall from clouds, which otherwise would yield rain more quickly. The delay can run from hours to days, he said, depending on other meteorological factors.

Gunn made his comments in amplifying a technical report prepared by himself and meteorologist B. B. Phillips for presentation to the spring meeting of the National Academy of Sciences.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Were President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles just making stern sounds or do they mean to do something if anti-Communist King Hussein of Jordan is attacked or overthrown?

Wednesday Hussein, pushed from one crisis to another for weeks by pro-Egyptians and pro-Communists in his kingdom, blamed his troubles on "international communism and its followers."

Judging from what soon followed, his use of those two words may have had a special significance. What followed was this:

Eisenhower and Dulles — the former in Augusta, Ga., and the latter in Washington—talked 20 minutes by phone. Presidential press secretary James Hagerty told reporters that, among other things, the two men had agreed that they regard Jordan's "independence and integrity as vital."

Hagerty took pains to point out their language was part of the resolution which Congress adopted last March in approving Eisenhower's Middle East program.

That resolution in Section 2, using the very words mentioned by Eisenhower and Dulles and the words "international communism" employed by Hussein, said:

"The United States regards as vital to the national interest and world peace the preservation of the independence and integrity of the nations of the Middle East.

"To this end, if the President determines the necessity thereof, the United States is prepared to use armed forces to assist any such nation or group of such nations requesting assistance against armed aggression from any country controlled by international communism..."

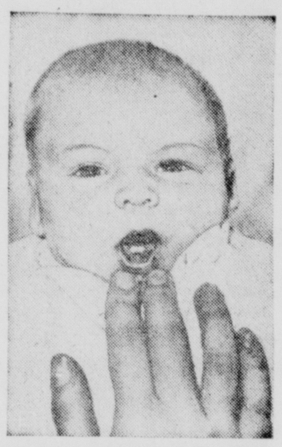

Although Hussein's immediate troubles may be inspired by Communists, he is not now under attack by any country, controlled or not controlled by international communism.

From the surface evidence, his problem is with revolution in his own country. And there is nothing in the congressional resolution which authorizes Eisenhower to use American forces to crush a revolution within a single country.

The one nation which could be considered pro - Communist, and from which Jordan might be attacked, is its neighbor Syria. But if Syria attacked, Hussein's two pro-western neighbors, Iraq and Saudi Arabia, might rush to his defense.

Dulles has talked big before and done nothing when the showdown came. Eisenhower has been more restrained. The language the two men used Wednesday could mean nothing more than a polite observation unless they wanted it to mean more.

It could be a warning to Syria. But Hagerty, when asked, said it would be "unfair to say" they had detected Communist activities in connection with Jordan's troubles.

SOON after this photo was taken, showing the two front teeth Michael John Lissak had when he was born 24 days earlier in Chicago, the teeth were extracted by the family dentist. Mike's father is serving with the U. S. Air Force on Guam. (International)

NEW EYES FOR THE NEEDY

New Jersey Charity Seeks No Money, Just Your Old Discarded Spectacles

Scouts bring a bushel basket full of old discarded spectacles to New Eyes headquarters.

MILLBURN, N. J.— One of America's most unusual charitable organizations recently announced its goal for 1957—not one red cent! The organization wants no money, but it does want 350,000 pair of old eyeglasses, no matter how battered, old-fashioned or broken.

New Eyes for the Needy, a non-sectarian, non-profit group, salvages the metal in the frames of glasses received as donations to buy new, prescription glasses for people all over the world who need the gift of better sight. It takes about 40 old pairs to buy one new pair.

About 40 women volunteers handle the hundreds of pounds of eyeglasses which are received in each week's mail. A testing committee supervised by a local optician checks lenses to see which may be used again.

New Eyes for the Needy works in the basement of Christ Episcopal church. It never has solicited a dollar in donations, but the thousands of glasses it has salvaged have brought better eyesight to more than 150,000 men, women and children in virtually every corner of the globe.

Missionaries in such far-off places as Africa, Borneo and the Philippines report that people frequently have walked hundreds of miles to obtain a precious pair of glasses. Recently, almost 2,000 pair of sunglasses were sent to Okinawa, where there is a large colony of people suffering leprosy This disease makes the victims eyes extremely sensitive to light.

TESTING KITS, complete with instructions, are sent to remote areas where no eye doctor or optical facilities are available. And in more than one case, the organization has arranged for an optician to visit a backwoods home right here in the United States.

New Eyes for the Needy will help anyone needing glasses, but can't pay for them—whatever his nationality, race or religion. The women work closely with hospitals and welfare agencies to verify the many applications for help which they receive.

The unusual group got started during the depression of the 1930s when the late Mrs. Arthur E. Terry observed that many people applying for relief did not see well enough even to fill out their application forms—much less obtain work!

She began collecting discarded glasses from her friends and before long, her efforts became known and thousands of spectacles began swamping the little Millburn post office.

Mrs. Terry died in 1947. However, the work was continued by the Junior Service league.

This year's goal of 350,000 pair of glasses is the highest ever. Also welcome are discarded jewelry, gold and silver scrap, unwanted household silver—even dental fixtures.

They all will help someone enjoy the blessing of sight.

Dirt In Cloud Said Curb On Rainfall

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dirty clouds are slow to produce rain, two U. S. Weather Bureau scientists say in rapping air pollution.

One of them, Dr. Ross Gunn, reported that new research indicates that air polluted by such things as finely divided industrial and home ashes, and dust from grassless land areas, can delay rainfall from clouds, which otherwise would yield rain more quickly. The delay can run from hours to days, he said, depending on other meteorological factors.

Gunn made his comments in amplifying a technical report prepared by himself and meteorologist B. B. PhiHips for presentation to the spring meeting of the National Academy of Sciences.

Reports Of DAR Congress Given At Monthly Meet

Miss Spangler Hosts To Group

The Regent, Miss Marie Hamilton, assisted by the Chaplain, Mrs. Christian Schwarz, opened the regular monthly meeting of the Pickaway Plains Chapter, DAR, held in the home of Miss Mary Spangler, E. Union St.

The Salute to the Flag was led by Mrs. C. E. Wright and the National Anthem conducted by Mrs. Martin Cromley.

The members listened attentively to the Regent as she shared with them the activities and experiences of the National Congress, DAR, which convened in Washington, D. C.

"Greetings were received from the President and Mrs. Eisenhower and many well known figures of the American scene addressed the sessions speaking upon subjects of interest to everyone.

"Senator William Knowland paid tribute to the Daughters for their active exercise of patriotic principles and stated further that although 'no outsider can win independence for a people. . . . we do recognize that when freedom is destroyed anywhere a bit of freedom is destroyed everywhere'.

"Senator Richard Russell cautioned against national obsession of sympathy for victims of tyranny and oppression which would permit entrance of a 'communist Trojan horse'.

"The title of Senator William Jenner's oration, 'Tower of Babel', contained a vigorous plea for American sovereignty in International Relations and that responsibility be declared directly upon the public for its continued favorable acceptance of federal entrenchment in welfare planning and administration.

"The US Immigration Service was discussed by Richard Arens, Director of House Unamerican Activities Committee.

"Two of the earliest graduates of DAR approved schools spoke of their affection for these institutions and their appreciation for the training they afforded. One is a scientist with the US Navy, Washington, and another is a school superintendent in Georgia.

"The Congress voted to erect a girls' dormitory at Tamassee, which will be designated as honoring the President General, Mrs. Frederick Groves.

"Awards for excellence in films were conferred upon Warner Brothers for the best childrens' movie, 'Goodbye My Lady,' and C. B. DeMille for best patriotic film. The latter award was accepted by Charlton Heston, who enacted the role of Moses in 'The Ten Commandments'.

"Mrs. Ray Erb, National Chairman of National Defense, reminded the audience of the necessity of preserving the Constitution as a 'Title Deed to Human Liberty'.

"The National March of Dimes Committee presented the National Society an Award of Service.

"The Historian General reported completion of the project to secure the signatures of all US Presidents. These and 14 signatures of Presidents' wives are housed in the Archives of Constitution Hall.

"Many delegates attended Good Friday Services at the National Presbyterian Church. After the services out-of-town worshipers were invited to a coffee hour at which the Pastor, Dr. Elson, attended and spoke on the history of the church and pointed out the pews of the more illustrous members of his congregation."

Returning to the business of the local chapter, Mrs. Schwartz was asked to read a Resolution of Respect for Miss Edith Haswell. The members voted to sponsor a deserving boy to the Ohio Forestry Camp.

Following the meeting everyone retired to the tea table prepared by the hostess and members of her committee: Mrs. Charles Pugsley; Mrs. C. E. Wright; Mrs. H. O. Borror; Mrs. Ella Hornbeck; Mrs. Leslie May; Mrs. E. T. Carstarphen; Miss Ruth Montelius; Mrs. Robert Graham and Mrs. Meeker Terwilliger.

The next meeting will be the afternoon of May 21 in the Williamsport parish house, Williamsport. The Nathaniel Massie Chapter, Chillicothe, have been accorded a cordial invitation to this meeting to hear the guest speaker, Mrs. Harley Lee, State Chairman of the Committee on the American Indian.

Reports Of DAR Congress Given At Monthly Meet

Miss Spangler Hosts To Group

The Regent, Miss Marie Hamilton, assisted by the Chaplain, Mrs. Christian Schwarz, opened the regular monthly meeting of the Pickaway Plains Chapter, DAR, held in the home of Miss Mary Spangler, E. Union St.

The Salute to the Flag was led by Mrs. C. E. Wright and the National Anthem conducted by Mrs. Martin Cromley.

The members listened attentively to the Regent as she shared with them the activities and experiences of the National Congress, DAR, which convened in Washington, D. C.

"Greetings were received from the President and Mrs. Eisenhower and many well known figures of the American scene addressed the sessions speaking upon subjects of interest to everyone.

"Senator William Knowland paid tribute to the Daughters for their active exercise of patriotic principles and stated further that although 'no outsider can win independence for a people. . . .we do recognize that when freedom is destroyed anywhere a bit of freedom is destroyed everywhere'.

"Senator Richard Russell cautioned against national obsession of sympathy for victims of tyranny and oppression which would permit entrance of a 'communist Trojan horse'.

"The title of Senator William Jenner's oration, 'Tower of Babel', contained a vigorous plea for American sovereignty in International Relations and that responsibility be declared directly upon the public for its continued favorable acceptance of federal entrenchment in welfare planning and administration.

"The US Immigration Service was discussed by Richard Arens, Director of House Unamerican Activities Committee.

"Two of the earliest graduates of DAR approved schools spoke of their affection for these institutions and their appreciation for the training they afforded. One is a scientist with the US Navy, Washington, and another is a school superintendent in Georgia.

"The Congress voted to erect a girls' dormitory at Tamassee, which will be designated as honoring the President General, Mrs. Frederick Groves.

"Awards for excellence in films were conferred upon Warner Brothers for the best childrens' movie, 'Goodbye My Lady,' and C. B. DeMille for best patriotic film. The latter award was accepted by Charlton Heston, who enacted the role of Moses in 'The Ten Commandments'.

"Mrs. Ray Erb, National Chairman of National Defense, reminded the audience of the necessity of preserving the Constitution as a 'Title Deed to Human Liberty'.

"The National March of Dimes Committee presented the National Society an Award of Service.

"The Historian General reported completion of the project to secure the signatures of all US Presidents. These and 14 signatures of Presidents' wives are housed in the Archives of Constitution Hall.

"Many delegates attended Good Friday Services at the National Presbyterian Church. After the services out-of-town worshipers were invited to a coffee hour at which the Pastor, Dr. Elson, attended and spoke on the history of the church and pointed out the pews of the more illustrous members of his congregation."

Returning to the business of the local chapter, Mrs. Schwartz was asked to read a Resolution of Respect for Miss Edith Haswell. The members voted to sponsor a deserving boy to the Ohio Forestry Camp.

Following the meeting everyone retired to the tea table prepared by the hostess and members of her committee: Mrs. Charles Pugsley; Mrs. C. E. Wright; Mrs. H. O. Borror; Mrs. Ella Hornbeck; Mrs. Leslie May; Mrs. E. T. Carstarphen; Miss Ruth Montelius; Mrs. Robert Graham and Mrs. Meeker Terwilliger.

Private Club Liquor Law Bill Shelved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House Liquor Committee Wednesday side-tracked bills to tighten regulations dealing with private clubs.

The measures went to a subcommittee where their sponsor, Rep. Albert A. Rofogg (R-Hamilton) said they "will be buried."

"They are bad bills, they go too far," Rogoff told newsmen.

He said he sponsored the measures at the request of the State Department of Liquor Control but realized after studying complaints that they might adversely affect clubs throughout the state.

One of the bills would allow sale of drinks by D-4 private club permit holders only to card-carrying members. Opponents claimed such a law would prevent members' guests from obtaining drinks in such clubs.

Another bill would prevent sale of mix or "setups" by clubs lacking D-4 permits in a move aimed at the so-called locker system under which members bring in their own liquor. State Liquor Director Robert Krupansky said the bills were aimed at clubs that do not operate a bonafide manner. He asserted the proposed laws would not hit those clubs in the manner feared by opponents of the bills.

Rogoff said he favored a resolution proposing a complete review of liquor laws with recommendations for changes by the Legislature two years hence.

'54 Polio Pioneers Offered New Shots

NEW YORK (AP)—A new series of free Salk vaccine shots is being made available for children who were "polio pioneers" in the 1954 experimental tests.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said it is contacting state health officers to arrange the shots.

The additional shots are necessary for full protection, the foundation said, because those given in 1954 were not properly spaced according to today's approved method. About 650,000 children took part in the 1954 tests.

Oakwood Cops Dismissal Is Ruled 'Void'

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A parking hassle of many months ago, culminating in dismissal of a policeman, has brought a Common Peas Court decision saying firing of the officer was "unlawful, arbitrary and void."

Patrolman Glenn Roller of suburban Oakwood was dismissed from his post last December on a charge of insubordination. The firing stemmed from his use of a parking place in a public alley at the rear of the Oakwood City building.

Oakwood City Manager A. C. Bergman said Roller had been told to move his car so that a businessman with quarters nearby who normally parked there, could use the space. When Roller declined to give up the space, he was dismissed from the force. The city's Civil Service Commission upheld the dismissal.

But Roller appealed to the Common Pleas Court and Judge Robert L. McBride gave a decision saying that essentially what had happened was the denial of Roller's rights as a citizen.

County Land Lease Ruling Detailed

COLUMBUS (AP)—An opinion relating to county commissioners' rights to lease land has been given by Atty. Gen. William Saxbe as follows:

"A board of commissioners may not enter into a lease whereby county owned land is leased to a third party for a number of years with the provision that such third party erect thereon a building suitable to be used for county offices and jail, and which lease further provides for the purchasing of such building by the county commissioners by stated installments or rentals extending over an equivalent number of years."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House Liquor Committee Wednesday side-tracked bills to tighten regulations dealing with private clubs.

The measures went to a subcommittee where their sponsor, Rep. Albert A. Rofogg (R-Hamilton) said they "will be buried."

"They are bad bills, they go too far," Rogoff told newsmen.

He said he sponsored the measures at the request of the State Department of Liquor Control but realized after studying complaints that they might adversely affect clubs throughout the state.

One of the bills would allow sale of drinks by D-4 private club permit holders only to card-carrying members. Opponents claimed such a law would prevent members' guests from obtaining drinks in such clubs.

Another bill would prevent sale of mix or "setups" by clubs lacking D-4 permits in a move aimed at the so-called locker system under which members bring in their own liquor. State Liquor Director Robert Krupansky said the bills were aimed at clubs that do not operate a bonafide manner. He asserted the proposed laws would not hit those clubs in the manner feared by opponents of the bills.

Rogoff said he favored a resolution proposing a complete review of liquor laws with recommendations for changes by the Legislature two years hence.

'54 Polio Pioneers Offered New Shots

NEW YORK (AP)—A new series of free Salk vaccine shots is being made available for children who were "polio pioneers" in the 1954 experimental tests.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said it is contacting state health officers to arrange the shots.

The additional shots are necessary for full protection, the foundation said, because those given in 1954 were not properly spaced according to today's approved method. About 650,000 children took part in the 1954 tests.

Oakwood Cops Dismissal Is Ruled 'Void'

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A parking hassle of many months ago, culminating in dismissal of a policeman, has brought a Common Peas Court decision saying firing of the officer was "unlawful, arbitrary and void."

Patrolman Glenn Roller of suburban Oakwood was dismissed from his post last December on a charge of insubordination. The firing stemmed from his use of a parking place in a public alley at the rear of the Oakwood City building.

Oakwood City Manager A. C. Bergman said Roller had been told to move his car so that a businessman with quarters nearby who normally parked there, could use the space. When Roller declined to give up the space, he was dismissed from the force. The city's Civil Service Commission upheld the dismissal.

But Roller appealed to the Common Pleas Court and Judge Robert L. McBride gave a decision saying that essentially what had happened was the denial of Roller's rights as a citizen.

County Land Lease Ruling Detailed

COLUMBUS (AP)—An opinion relating to county commissioners' rights to lease land has been given by Atty. Gen. William Saxbe as follows:

"A board of commissioners may not enter into a lease whereby county owned land is leased to a third party for a number of years with the provision that such third party erect thereon a building suitable to be used for county offices and jail, and which lease further provides for the purchasing of such building by the county commissioners by stated installments or rentals extending over an equivalent number of years."

Caution Is Seen Replaced As Spring Produces Activity

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The sap of confidence is rising in the business world with the spring. Optimistic talk today is replacing some of the caution and worries that featured the late winter months.

In some cases industrial leaders are reporting a revival of activity in April. In more, hopes are building up for an early end to the lull caused by inventory trimming and a new upsurge in the fall.

"The adjustment should be brief and moderate" is the theme song in many industries.

This happy talk has pepped up the bulls in Wall Street. It is cheering stockholders of many companies at the annual meetings now nearing their peak season. It spreads through many of the first quarter earnings reports now pouring in.

Included in the chorus of cheer this week are officials of steel, oil, container, machinery, tools, food, copper and auto companies.

"A strong recovery trend during the final quarter" is seen for the steel industry by J. L. Mauthe, chairman of Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

A brisk upturn in the fall is expected by C. M. White, president of Republicn Steel. R. L. Gray, Armco Steel president, predicts record output by the industry this year.

"A bright outlook" for the oil industry is seen by W. K. Whiteford, president of Gulf Oil. The Texas Co.'s chairman, A. C. Long, says domestic oil demand will rise by 5 per cent this year and over the long run there will be continued growth in foreign markets. Both firms report sharp increases in earnings so far this year, with the Suez Canal crisis and increased oil prices cited as causes.

The copper industry has been having its troubles. But Robert G. Page, Phelps Dodge president, thinks the trimming of inventories by users of the metal should be about over.

Henry Ford II, president of Ford Motors, reports record sales so far this year. And Arthur O. Dietz, president of C. I. T. financer of auto sales, looks for some six million new cars to be sold this year, about the same as last. While this would be below the 1955 record splurge, it still is an awful lot of cars.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, chairman of Continental Can, tells stockholders "the outlook for 1957 in the container industry is a strong one."

Kempton Dunn, president of American Brake Shoe & Foundry, predicts the high level of its shipments and earnings will continue at least through the rest of the first half of 1957.

Machine tool shipments continue to rise. National Machine Tool Builders Assn. officials think they may set a record peacetime high this year.

Let's all go shopping for fresh pineapple. Pineapples are available the year 'round, but the peak production comes in April, May and June. Enjoy this refreshing, delicious and appetizing fruit now while prices are lowest, supplies are heaviest and quality is highest.

The old saying, "It's not only good, but it's good for you," may be applied to many things, including fresh pineapple. This is a happy situation for people who like to eat pineapple. Usually the chief reason for eating such fruit is "I like it." In the case of pineapple there is also the satisfaction of knowing that it is also nutritious. Pineapple is a good source of the essential vitamins C and B-1, or thiamine. It also supplies small amounts of iron, calcium and phosphorus.

Contrary to a popular belief, pineapples do not grow on trees! They grow on a herbacious plant, three to four feet tall, with stiff, large, grass-like spiny leaves. The plant does not grow from the seed, but from slips taken near the base of the fruit, from the crown, or from suckers which develop lower down on the stem. It usually takes from 20 to 22 months from the time of planting to produce fruit weighing from two to five pounds. Each "eye" of the pineapple is a separate fruitlet, having come from an individual flower.

* * *

ALL PINEAPPLES have the same number of eyes! The eyes are just larger in the large-sized pineapples.

Sizes range from eight to 18. The number indicates the number of pineapples in a crate. The smaller the number, the larger the pineapple. Because pineapples are sold by size rather than pound, food shoppers should select those that are heavy for their size.

In buying fresh pineapple, marketing specialists suggest the look, touch, lift, and smell, system. Note the color. The Cuban variety now most plentiful on the market has a deep yellow-orange color when ripe. Be sure the fruit has no soft, watery areas which may be almost black in color. Signs of decay usually appear first at the base of the fruit. The bracs, or eyes, should be almost flat, not pointed. Ripe pineapple will have a typical aroma, readily "smellable." Finally, the leaf-like top spires will pull out easily if the fruit is ripe.

Since fresh pineapple bruises easily—it should be handled as little as possible. When it is fully ripe, pineapple may be stored in the refrigerator. Wrap it well to prevent absorption of the odor by other foods. If it is not ripe when purchased, set it out where it may ripen at room temperature.

Fresh pineapple must be cooked and cooled before it is put into gelatin, otherwise the gelatin will not gel. This is food chemistry speaking!

* * *

DELICIOUS and compatible partners for pineapple are grapefruit, oranges and bananas.

Eating quality of grapefruit is still excellent. The re-greening which many of the grapefruit on the market have undergone detracts from their appearance. However, this does not affect the eating quality.

Banana prices are difficult to predict because of many influencing factors. A plentiful supply of good quality bananas are arriving on most markets. Currently, prices are reasonably low, but a dock strike, unfavorable weather, etc., could increase prices rapidly.

Senator Hopes Ike To Keep Hands Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) says he expects President Eisenhower to avoid "scrupulously" taking any part in the choice of the 1960 Republican presidential nominee.

Goldwater, who has criticized Eisenhower's $71.8 billion spending budget, took issue with a contention of Sen. Javits (R-NY) that only a nominee "carrying on the Eisenhower brand of Republicanism" could win for the GOP three years from now.

"I don't think anybody can say this far ahead whether the nominee will be an Eisenhower man," Goldwater said.

Gifted Children Said Neglected

PITTSBURGH (AP)—An educator says America has been neglecting its gifted children for so long that it is beginning to run short of leaders.

"Already," said William M. Cruickshank of Syracuse University, "we are having difficulty finding good senators and representatives. We have a desperate need for leaders, not only in politics and the military, but leaders in the laboratory, in literature, in all fields.

"We have put so much emphasis on 'normality' that we are beginning to feel the results. At this point it's almost a matter of put up or shut up."

World Plowing Championship Set for Adams County Farm

Many Pickaway Countians will be among approximately 300,000 persons expected to visit the 1957 World's Conservation Exposition and Plowing Contests at Peebles in Adams County on September 17, 18, 19, and 20.

The event will mark the fifth world's plowing competition and the first time it ever has been on American soil. Included in the program will be a world conservation exposition, world plowing contest, national and state plowing contests, state and national youth day, woman's programs, farm and home demonstrations and a complete commercial products exhibition.

Plowing contestants from some 15 counties will be competing for world-wide honors. Representing the United States will be Lawrence Goettemoeller of Mercer County, O., and John Daniels of Mulberry Grove, Ill.

There will be plenty of attractions for farm and city folks alike at this "World's Fair of Agriculture." In addition to the plowing competition and conservation exhibits, there will be appearances by the 102-piece U. S. Army Field Band, the same unit which appeared at the Pumpkin Show here last year.

* * *

REIGNING over the entire Event will be a "Queen of the Furrow" chosen from contestants in 88 Ohio counties.

Being the first time the event has been held in America, it will be the only time the U. S. will have the opportunity to play host for probably another 10 to 15 years.

Previous world contests were held in Canada, Ireland, Sweden and England. Future contests are scheduled for Germany, North Ireland, France and the Netherlands.

This year's event is being sponsored by a non-profit corporation formed under the laws of Ohio by 16 agricultural, business and professional leaders. Co-sponsors and cooperating agencies include:

State of Ohio Department of Agriculture and Department of Natural Resources, Ohio State University College of Agriculture and Extension Service, U. S. Department of State, Agriculture, and Soil Conservation, Ohio Federation of Soil Conservation Districts, Ohio Chamber of Commerce, Adams County Agricultural Stabilization Committee, and Adams County commissioners, schools, public officials, business, civic and agricultural groups.

Hundreds Of Vegetables OK For Ohio Home Gardeners

Columbus, O. — Home gardeners have choice of hundreds of different vegetable varieties for planting in Ohio, says E. C. Wittmeyer, Ohio State University extension horticulturist. Many of these are strains of varieties that have been available for a long time, but individual seed companies have made their special selections.

Past experience is important in selecting varieties, Wittmeyer explains, especially if the gardener has been trying different varieties and hybrids for several years. Environmental and soil conditions in different areas affect the way a certain variety performs in different parts of the state.

The gardener also should consider the intended use when choosing varieties. Some varieties are more suitable for freezing than others. Many varieties that are suitable for use in fresh form also are suitable for canning but may be unsuitable for freezing according to the horticulturist. Ohio county agents have lists containing names of many vegetable varieties for the home garden.

Following are examples of some varieties that have done well in Ohio and are suggested for planting. There are many other good varieties.

Asparagus — Mary Washington; Beans — bush, green — Stringless Black Valentine, Stringless Green Pod, Tendergreen, Contender, Top Crop; Beans—bush, Lima—Fordhook, Baby Fordhook, Early Market, Green-seeded Fordhook 242, Thorogreen (Cangreen, Allgreen), Triumph; Chinese Cabbage—Chihili, Michili;

Wheat Farmers May Preserve Acreage History

The Pickaway County ASC office said today that cards are being mailed to wheat producers who have under-planted their 1957 wheat allotment. They are being notified that they may preserve their wheat acreage history.

In order to do this a wheat producer must sign a form MQ-31 not later than May 1st, which will request that his entire allotment be considered as having been planted on his farm. Should he not heed to the signing of this form it may in future years have a definite effect on his wheat allotment, the ASC reported.

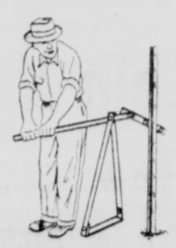

Idea Makes News

One Pickaway County man has an idea that other farmers may use. It's a portable field marker made of 2 X 4 scraps and two screen door springs. The latest issue of "Successful Farming" carries a picture of the item devised by John Noecker.

Farmer Found Dead

CANTON (AP)—Lorin Schrock, 66, was found dead Wednesday night in a burned field on his farm near Navarre. Coroner E. B. Moses is investigating.

Post Puller

Handy, self-locking fence post puller is pivoted to a triangular base made of flat, angle steel, consists of a 10-in. link having two pins extending from the side to grip the post that is pivoted to the end of a lever. Both link and lever are made of flat steel. Pins are spaced far enough apart to allow them to slip over post, but close enough to grip post securely when link is drawn up at an angle.

Planting Peas Early Frees Garden Areas

COLUMBUS, Peas can be planted early in the home garden and will mature in time for other vegetables to be planted in same area after pea harvest says E. C. Wittmeyer, Ohio State University extension horticulturist. Early planting is important, Wittmeyer says, because the crop makes best growth during cool weather. Quality will be highest if crop can mature before hot weather of late June occurs. Peas can be planted as soon as soil can be worked in spring.

The seed should be treated with a suitable fungicide, like Arasan or Spergon, to prevent seed decay. Inoculant also can be used if peas have not been raised in garden recently.

Peas should not be planted in same location in the garden oftener than once in 4 or 5 years. This practice helps to control soil-borne diseases.

The gardener should select a well-drained soil. If his soil is poorly drained, he should consider possibility of planting peas on ridges 3 to 4 inches higher than surrounding soil. He should not apply fertilizer directly in the row with seed, Wittmeyer says. From 10 to 20 pounds of complete fertilizer, like 4-16-8, may be applied per 1,000 square feet before plowing or spading, and a similar amount after.

Greater Progress, Thomas Laxton, Freezonian, and Wando are examples of pea varieties that do well in Ohio, Wittmeyer says. Wando can be seeded later than other varieties and still produce a good crop. The seed should be planted ½ to 1 inch deep and spaced about 1 inch apart in row.

By Mac Noggle

When you were a kid, weren't Saturdays red-letter days? Remember, after you had finished your assigned chores about home, that the time was mostly your own, to do as you pleased—with parental restrictions, of course?

On the days fit to be out of doors you met with your chums for a game of bull-ring, shinny, choose-up-sides, fishing in the canal or mayble a little trip on your bike. It was a time, too, when you could pick up a nickel or so, doing odd jobs for your neighbors, like mowing grass, cleaning cobble-stone gutters, beating carpets or just running errands.

Remember how far a nickel would go for chewing gum, licorice or jaw-breakers, at Presler's or Kinney's grocery stores? Then, too, there was another event of the day to look forward to—Saturday night was when the folks paid their grocery bills and you always got for free, a great big sack of candy.

You don't hear of such things anymore, do you? The custom has passed out of the picture, just as has the "baker's dozen" for cookies or crullers, or for new suspenders or a cap or a necktie thrown in with every new hand-me-down suit.

* * *

BUT THE DAY had one ominous certainty—the Saturday night bath. In the summer time, most kids beat this ordeal, by going swimming in Baby-hole, on the west bank of the Scioto, just south of the aqueduct, or they hiked up to Darby Ford, where there were several holes in which you could "dunk." Lots of times, when the hours were too short, we chose Hargus, nearby, on the up-side of the slaughter-house.

There was nothing fancy about the bathing facilities at our house—an old wooden tub, placed in the middle of the kitchen floor, a cistern handy to the back door, a big tub teakettle of boiling water on the cook stove to temper your tub, plenty of soap, a wash-rag, a scrub brush and a towel—that was our bathroom.

Didn't you sometimes wonder if there would ever come a time when you would have a bathroom like the "big houses" of Circleville were said to have had? Some they say, even had, besides a permanent bath tub, connections to a water supply—even had hot water—and quite often a drain into a sewer pipe. But there were only one or two of these in town, for it was an expensive installation, costing as much as $150.

Most bathrooms, however, were right next to the kitchen, where one could draw the cold water for the tub from the cistern pump at the kitchen sink, and have water, heated in pails on the kitchen stove. Unless there were drain pipes the tubs were slightly elevated at one end, so the water could be drawn off into buckets and carried out of doors. If there was no faucet for drainage on the tub, a piece of rubber hose, serving as a siphon, did a good job, or some used just a big dipper and finished bailing with a sponge.

We've heard tell one of Circleville's early doctors even rigged up, with a half-barrel and a piece of hose, a shower bath, handy to his office.

Unless there was a furnace for heating the house, these bathroom luxuries were quite seasonal and were used only during the summer season and maybe the very late spring and early fall.

There were many precautionary "don'ts" for regular bathers to observe. "Don't take any kind of bath within two hours after eating a hearty meal. If you are fatigued, don't take a cold bath—make it as hot as you can bear it. Never stay too long in the water. Don't bathe early in the morning, on an empty stomach, unless you are vigorous and strong enough to stand it—the best time is two or three hours after breakfast. To keep clean and healthy, don't neglect the weekly hot-water bath, followed by a change of clothing. Don't believe you can get rid of wrinkles by filling them with powder. Before going to bed, bathe your face in warm, then in cold water—and quit worrying."

* * *

SOME FOLKS took medicated baths for their ailments, like putting several pounds of sea-salt in the tub, or boiling four or five pounds of wheat bran and pouring this soup into the bathwater—this last was said to be good for "itching." Mustard was commonly used, too, but it was recommended mostly for the feet.

We think we have a lot of different kinds of soaps these days, but the list would not hold a candle to the recipes for perfumed and medicated soaps the folks made and used 50 or more years ago. There were honey soaps, made with strained honey; almond soaps; borax soaps; cornmeal soaps; citron soaps; cinnamon soaps; "a la rose" soaps; musk soaps; and of course we must not forget the old standby, "sand-soap."

Yes—to 15 pounds of curd or soft soap, was added thyme, cassia, caraway and lavender, to make it smell good, and then about 25 pounds of white sand was stirred into this. They say, this would remove the most stubborn of dirt, even the hide if you were not careful.

Soaps were used, too, as vehicles for various remedial agents or disinfectants. Plain white soap, softened by dissolving in water, and then medicated with any of these—sulphur, iodine, juniper-tar, carbolic-acid, chlorine, camphor, arsenic or bayberry, each having its own special use.

Yes, those were the days, so the historians say, when the civiliation of a community was estimated by the quanity of soap it consumed, and the refinement of a family was indicated by the amount of water it used. Can you think of any kids in your old gang, who, voluntarily, had the least interest or inclination to raise the percentage of either in your neighborhood ?If there was—betcha two cents you called him a "sissy."

EAST LIVERPOOL (AP) — Mayor Arnold Devon reappointed John L. Russell as police chief Wednesday after an 11-month demotion. Eye Tests Completed For All Pickaway School Students

An eye testing program in Pickaway County's 17 schools, the first ever conducted here, has been completed according to Mrs. Helen Pickens, county health nurse.

The tests, started here in January, were given to approximately 4,305 students from first grades through senior classes in all schools.

Tests revealed that 411 students had defective vision. Mrs. Pickens said that 234 of these already have had defects corrected. The parents of all children found to have defects were notified and advised to take them to physicians.

The local Society for Crippled Children, the Circleville Elks Club and Lions Clubs in Circleville and New Holland purchased glasses for many children whose parents were unable to do so.

Weeky Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Housewives will find good buys in pork and poultry this week.

Those are the two meat items most frequently featured by the big food chains for thrift-conscious buyers this weekend.

Chickens ready for frying or broiling are probably the outstanding buy. Price cuts from last week range from 2 cents a pound in some areas to as much as 10 cents a pound.

Pork loin is also attractively priced in many cities, and you'll find an occasional special in leg or shoulder of veal.

Beef prices continue to inch higher.

Sirloin steak is up a penny or two a pound from last week in some cities; rib roast is up anywhere from two to six cents a pound. Lamb prices are pretty close to last week's levels.

Potatoes are listed as excellent buys in many parts of the country.

Citrus fruits are still plentiful, but some—notably tangerines and temple oranges—vary greatly in quality and should be chosen with care. Good buys include grapefruit and valencia oranges from Florida, and navel oranges and lemons from California.

Ohio Homicide Rate Shows Sharp Increase

State's Total 44 Pct. Ahead Of National Average FBI Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Murder and willful manslaughter increased 44 per cent over 1955 in Ohio last year, the FBI reports.

This far outdistanced the homicide rate of the nation generally. The FBI, basing its figures on information supplied by police departments, said the national increase for these crimes was 5.8 per cent.

For Ohio, the FBI said there were 191 murder-homicides in 1955 and 275 in 1956. The information was compiled from reports in 174 Ohio cities.

The material on Ohio criminal activity was contained in the FBI's annual "Uniform Crime Reports."

Nationally, the FBI found that the "1956 major crime total (was) higher than that of any oher year." Increases were reported in all but one category, robbery, bringing the crime total "above the 2½ million mark for the first time."

In line with this trend, Ohio also showed increases over 1955 in the following crimes:

Aggravated assault—up from 2,121 to 2,469; burglary—up from 15,209 to 16,637; larceny—up from 51,654 to 58,487; auto theft — up from 6,777 to 9,056.

On the other hand, Ohio showed decreases in these crimes: Manslaughter by negligence — down from 191 to 179; rape—down from 452 to 437; robbery—down from 2,609 to 2,449.

As to why Ohio homicides took such a startling jump, a glance at some—but not all—of the big cities shows some rather large increases.

In publishing this report, the FBI stated:

"It is generally more important to determine whether the figures for a given community show increases or decreases rather than to ascertain whether they exceed or fall short of those for some other individual community.

"And it should be remembered that the amount of crime committed in a community is not solely chargeable to the police but is rather a charge against the entire community."

'Self Reliance' Prizes Awarded

MIDDLETOWN (AP) — James M. Lawson, 17, of Middletown High School, and Nancy Renee Murphy of Fenwick High School, have been named winners of the fourth annual Sebald Self - Reliance Awards, including $400 apiece.

The awards were presented by W. W. Sebald, vice-chairman of the Armco Steel Corp., and originator of the awards.

2 Ohio Students Get Engineer Scholarships

CLEVELAND (AP)—The American Society of Tool Engineers announced Wednesday that Lawrence W. Miller of Hartville, a student at Case Institute of Technology, and Philip F. Myers of Cleveland Heights, an Ohio State University senior, have been awarded $700 schoarship awards.

TV WRITER Charleen Kerr, 26, was granted a divorce in Los Angeles after testifying that her husband, Guillermo Tapia, 31, also a TV writer, made fun, of her cooking and once held her head over a stove trying to burn her hair. (International)

Columnist Claims Ike May Not Send Invite To Queen

LONDON (AP) — A columnist for the London Daily Express has voiced suspicion that President Eisenhower has had second thoughts about inviting Queen Elizabeth II to visit Washington.

"If she does not go to the United States this autumn," wrote William Hickey, "it will be widely believed that she has been snubbed."

British newspapers have been assuming that such a trip by Elizabeth and her husband Prince Philip was definitely in the works, but there has been no official confirmation either from Buckingham Palace or the White House.

"Something seems to have gone wrong," Hickey declared. "Officials both in London and Washington are evasive, noncommittal and slightly embarrassed."

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 23, my husband is 22 and we have been married three months. I was frank with Dick before marriage about being under a doctor's care, and wanting to wait until I am in better health to have children.

Also I said I would like to see my friends, go shopping and have them as guests once in a while. Dick said it was OK with him. Also I told him that if he wished to go out once a week or have his friends in, it would be OK with me.

Two weeks after we married, a childhood friend of mine called to ask us to dinner, and I invited her to drop in some evening with her husband. But Dick informed me that we weren't going, and that he'd make them and me sorry if they came here; and that I wasn't to talk to her again on the phone.

Recently another friend and I went shopping one afternoon, and I got home 10 minutes later than Dick. He was in a rage and said I had to choose between him and the friend. From then on, I was to be home when he got in.

Right now I am sicker than ever. My doctor has told me to get lots of rest and see him twice a week, and advises against early pregnancy, as Dick knows. Still Dick says he's not going to pay any more doctor bills; yet he insists on my having a child.

If I disagree with him on anything, he says he is going to kill himself, so now I do just as he wants. Also he has been hitting me in the face if I disagree with him. I feel like a slave and can't go on this way. But what can I do?

A. B.

DEAR A.B.: Your long letter, here condensed, makes clear that you carefully tried to educate Dick, before marriage, to your ideas of mutual fair play in double harness. And he seemed to agree; at least, he gave no argument.

It is only since marriage that he shows himself to be a sick-minded sort of petty tyrant.

Dick's threats to kill himself, during disagreements, are symptomatic of the same morbidity of mind that drives him to jealously cut you off from family, friends and all other such normal sociability. He is emotionally sick with chronic rage, inferiority feelings, self-pity and, more recently, with a sense of guilty anxiety about his mistreatment of you, I suppose.

Since he didn't dispute your exploratory ideas, when you were trying to establish a prior "working agreement" about marriage, he lured you into the partnership under false pretenses, actually. And his present brutal browbeating attitude is a serious menace to your health, it seems—judging by the doctor's concern and your latterday "sicker" state. So it's possible that you have legitimate cause to obtain release from the destrucive alliance.

My advice is to get first-hand professional help at once, to determine how to proceed, to save yourself. The Family Service Agency in your city is an appropriate source of help; or, if there is a Legal Aid Bureau, it befriends needy persons also.

Tiny Microphone Inserted In Heart

NEW YORK (AP) — A New York specialist says doctors now have a tiny electronic "ear" they can send into the heart and hear its performance.

Dr. Howard L. Moscovitz of Mount Sinai Hospital reported the instrument is a supersensitive microphone three-fourths of an inch long and about one-twentieth of an inch thick. It is passed by a tube through an artery or vein directly into the heart.

Other instruments translate the sounds picked up by the mike into data on the heart's performance. The sounds are clearer than those taken by stethoscope.

Tebbetts Able Now To Smile About Redlegs

Team Wins Its Third, Thanks To Walkathon Handed Out By Cubs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You have to figure Birdie Tebbetts finally got around to smiling at himself in the mirror when he shaved this morning.

It's been a tough first week of the season for the chubby Cincinnati manager what with his Redlegs, loaded with pennant potential and power, losing their first four games; Ted Kluszewski benched with a bad back; Frank Robinson coming up with a new sore arm; Johnny Temple giving in to a sore throat; and his pinch hitters delivering only three times in 15 at bats.

But things looked great today. The Redlegs have won three in a row.

They got their third Wednesday night, piling up seven runs in the fifth inning with one hit and nine walks for a 9-5 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

The nine walks set a National League record, finally disposing of a 47-year-old lapse by the Redlegs themselves. They set the old mark by granting St. Louis eight walks in one inning back in 1910.

The victory left Cincinnati three games back of the co-leaders — Milwaukee and Brooklyn. The Braves kept the pace with a four-home run job that beat the St. Louis Cardinals 8-7 and the Dodgers made the most of five hits to beat the New York Giants 4-3.

Philadelphia also grabbed a seven-run inning while defeating Pittsburgh 8-5 in the other NL game.

In the American, the New York Yankees beat Baltimore 3-2; Kansas City belted Cleveland with five home runs for a 17-6 breeze; and Boston nudged Washington 4-3 in 10 innings.

The Redlegs took their record walks from loser Moe Drabowsky, Jackie Collum and Jim Brosnan to overhaul a 2-1 lead. Bob Thurman, subbing for Robinson, homered but it was the Cubs who showed the power with three homers.

Del Crandall put the Braves over the hump with his solo home run in the ninth off losing reliefer Willard Schmidt. Milwaukee twice had scrambled from behind, scoring every run on homers — Joe Adcock's second of the year and three-run smacks by Eddie Mathews and Hank Aaron. Del Ennis helped build the early Card lead off Ray Crone with a two-run homer, but Herm Wehmeier couldn't hold it.

The Dodgers had all sorts of troubles with the Giants, but piled up three hits, a walk, sacrifice fly, error and passed ball to score all four runs in the fourth and chase rookie Curt Barclay to his second defeat.

Rookie Bob Bowman hit a two-run homer and rookie Ed Bouchee added a three-run triple in the Phillies' big sixth that beat Bob Friend, who had given just two hits for the first five frames.

Mickey Mantle's second home run of the year did the job in the eighth for reliefer Bob Grim of the Yanks after Art Ditmar, in his first start as a Yankee, failed to hold on to the 2-0 lead Yogi Berra's homer supplied in the first inning.

Hector Lopez walloped a pair of home runs and drove in six runs for the A's, who got rid of Bob Lemon early in winning their third in a row.

Ted Williams' third home run of the season gave the Red Sox a 3-all tie in the eighth, and a single by Jackie Jensen, following Billy Klaus' double, bagged it in the 10th.

George Kell Eyes 2000-Hit Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Day by day George Kell climbs steadily toward his lifetime goal of 2,000 hits in a brilliant American League career. At the latest count he was 28 hits short.

"It will mean a lot to me," said the veteran Baltimore infielder, who alternates between first base and his old third base job this spring. "Last winter I thought about retiring to the farm (in Swifton, Ark.) but I decided to give it one more whirl at least to get those 2,000 hits. They tell me I'll be the 100th player to do it."

Although Kell at 33 hasn't long to go in the majors, he is a cinch to hit the 2,000 mark within a month. Three Wednesday brought his total to 1,972.

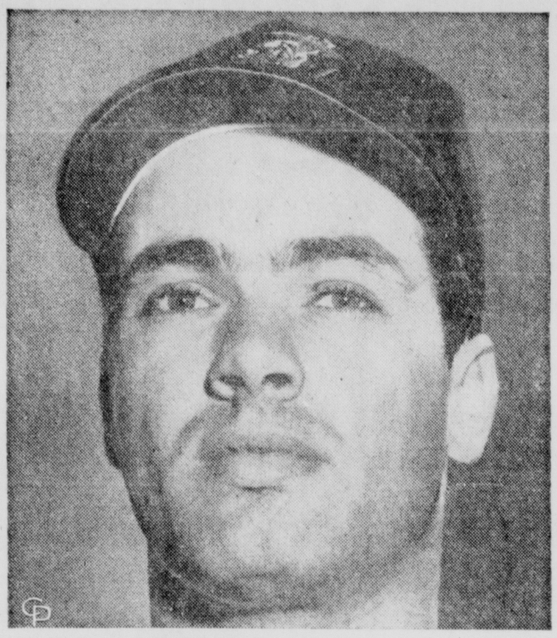

Big Ten Baseball Card Opens Friday

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten baseball season opens Friday with Minnesota's defending champions meeting a formidable opponent in Northwestern's Wildcats.

While Minnesota and Northwestern battle at Evanston, Illinois will be at Purdue, Michigan State at Indiana, Michigan at Ohio State and Iowa at Wisconsin.

Minnesota slugged its way to the title last year with a team average of .320 and 29 home runs in 13 conference games. The Gophers figure to be just as tough this year.

SPORTS

BRIGHTEST young star of the Cleveland Indians, who may match the brilliance of the pitching whiz, Herb Score, is Rocco Colavito (above), young outfielder with the bullet arm. Rocco, who hits the long ball, got in 101 games with the Tribe last year after being recalled from San Diego and almost won rookie-of-the-year honors. He hit 21 homers for the Injuns and in spring training this year he is knocking down the fences again. He's 23 and from the Bronx, New York. (International)

Some Fishing In Ohio Good, But Most Streams 'Roily'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Most of Ohio's streams and lakes are roily following recent rains, but fishermen are enjoying fair success in several areas.

The Ohio Division of Wildlife's weekly lake and stream report had this message for the rod-and-reel enthusiasts:

NORTHWESTERN OHIO: Most streams roily and high, but some fish being taken from them. Lake St. Marys, high and rather roily, yielding crappies and catfish and weekend outlook fair to good. East Harbor in Ottawa County is clear and producing largemouth bass and bluegills.

NORTHEASTERN: Fishing generally good, with best catches reported from Nimisila and Portage lakes where bass, bluegills, crappies and some northern pike are being taken. Other good fishing lakes include Charles Mill, Pwaasant Hill, Clearfork, Mogadore and Pymatuning Reservoir. Best stream fishing in Huron River, where smallmouth bass abound.

EAST CENTRAL AND SOUTHEASTERN: Major streams, including Muskingum and Walhonding, are high and muddy and fishing is poor. Best results from Lakes Seneca, Clouse, Atwood, Alma, Hope, Clendening and Tappan, where bluegills, crappies and catfish are plentiful.

CENTRAL AND SOUTHERN: Most stream fishing generally poor except for those in Scioto, Adams and Jackson counties which are clear to roily where catches have been fair. Olentangy, Scioto, Big Darby, Little Darby and Big and Little Walnut in central area are high, and fishing poor. Hoover Reservoir is roily, but good catches of bass and crappies reported. The Delaware Reservoir, and Lakes Rocky Fork, Jackson, Knox and Madison are in poor condition, although some fish are being caught.

SOUTHWESTERN: Most major streams are muddy and high but a few in Brown, Butler, Champaign, Miami and Preble counties are in fair to good condition, and the weekend outook there is good. Kiser, Cowan, Sinclair and Indian lakes are in good fishing condition, with bass, bluegills, crappies and catfish being taken. Some trout are being caught in Mad River and its tributaries in Champaign County.

Rosewall Says When Pancho Angry, He Can't Be Beaten

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP) — Ken Rosewall says if tennis fans want to see him put up a better battle against big Pancho Gonzales, the pro champion, they ought to stop making Pancho mad.

"I have enough troubles as it is," the pocket-sized Australian said today following a match at Princeton University in another of the tour's one-night stands, "but let Pancho get provoked for some reason and he blows me off the court."

Big Pancho, currently involved in a contract feud with Promoter Jack Kramer, dropped a 6-1, 6-3, decision to the little Aussie, Tuesday night. Gonzales now holds a 37-17 lead in the cross - country series.

"I keep hearing people say that Gonzales has some good nights and some bad nights and that I manage to win when he's in a slump," Rosewall added. "Never since I started playing him have I seen Pancho have a bad day or night. He's always tough.

"I have to work like the dickens in every match. It's only when I'm playing extremely well that I'm able to pull off a win. And when somebody makes Pancho sore, I don't have a chance."

Ken recalled a match in Adelaide, Australia, in early February. "I was winning the fourth set," he said. "Then some joker started ribbing Pancho. He threw his racket at the microphone. Then he came back and licked me good."

Rosewall apparently can look for no relief because the childhood scar on big Pancho's cheek stays livid these days as the result of his running feud with Promoter Jack Kramer. Kramer is upset because Gonzales plans to take a rest after May 26. Gonzales is threatening to branch out on his own if Promoter Kramer acts too tough.

Rosewall said he hoped to continue in pro tennis as long as he can peddle his wares. "I think some day we will have week-end tournaments like the golfers for prize money," he added.

Tiger Cinder Squad Travels To Wilmington

Circleville High's track squad travels to Wilmington today for a league meet with the Hurricanes.

Coach Tom Bennett's harriers are hoping to get off to a good start in their first league engagement. In their last outing Tuesday, the CHS cindermen placed second in a triangular meet with Chillicothe and Gallipolis, won by Chillicothe.

According to Coach Bennett, his squad appears to be near top shape for today's meeting.

The next game for Coach Dick Boyd's baseball nine is slated Friday with Franklin Heights. The game will be played at Southview Park in Columbus.

The Cincinnati Redlegs first actual spring training camp was at Mobile, Ala., in 1895.

Former middleweight boxing champ Solly Krieger now is a beachwear manufacturer in Florida.

Tebbetts Able Now To Smile About Redlegs

Team Wins Its Third, Thanks To Walkathon Handed Out By Cubs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You have to figure Birdie Tebbetts finally got around to smiling at himself in the mirror when he shaved this morning.

It's been a tough first week of the season for the chubby Cincinnati manager what with his Redlegs, loaded with pennant potential and power, losing their first four games; Ted Kluszewski benched with a bad back; Frank Robinson coming up with a new sore arm; Johnny Temple giving in to a sore throat; and his pinch hitters delivering only three times in 15 at bats.

But things looked great today. The Redlegs have won three in a row.

They got their third Wednesday night, piling up seven runs in the fifth inning with one hit and nine walks for a 9-5 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

The nine walks set a National League record, finally disposing of a 47-year-old lapse by the Redlegs themselves. They set the old mark by granting St. Louis eight walks in one inning back in 1910.

The victory left Cincinnati three games back of the co-leaders — Milwaukee and Brooklyn. The Braves kept the pace with a four-home run job that beat the St. Louis Cardinals 8-7 and the Dodgers made the most of five hits to beat the New York Giants 4-3.

Philadelphia also grabbed a seven-run inning while defeating Pittsburgh 8-5 in the other NL game.

In the American, the New York Yankees beat Baltimore 3-2; Kansas City belted Cleveland with five home runs for a 17-6 breeze; and Boston nudged Washington 4-3 in 10 innings.

The Redlegs took their record walks from loser Moe Drabowsky, Jackie Collum and Jim Brosnan to overhaul a 2-1 lead. Bob Thurman, subbing for Robinson, homered but it was the Cubs who showed the power with three homers.

Del Crandall put the Braves over the hump with his solo home run in the ninth off losing reliefer Willard Schmidt. Milwaukee twice had scrambled from behind, scoring every run on homers — Joe Adcock's second of the year and three-run smacks by Eddie Mathews and Hank Aaron. Del Ennis helped build the early Card lead off Ray Crone with a two-run homer, but Herm Wehmeier couldn't hold it.

The Dodgers had all sorts of troubles with the Giants, but piled up three hits, a walk, sacrifice fly, error and passed ball to score all four runs in the fourth and chase rookie Curt Barclay to his second defeat.

Rookie Bob Bowman hit a two-run homer and rookie Ed Bouchee added a three-run triple in the Phillies' big sixth that beat Bob Friend, who had given just two hits for the first five frames.

Mickey Mantle's second home run of the year did the job in the eighth for reliefer Bob Grim of the Yanks after Art Ditmar, in his first start as a Yankee, failed to hold on to the 2-0 lead Yogi Berra's homer supplied in the first inning.

Hector Lopez walloped a pair of home runs and drove in six runs for the A's, who got rid of Bob Lemon early in winning their third in a row.

Ted Williams' third home run of the season gave the Red Sox a 3-all tie in the eighth, and a single by Jackie Jensen, following Billy Klaus' double, bagged it in the 10th.

George Kell Eyes 2000-Hit Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Day by day George Kell climbs steadily toward his lifetime goal of 2,000 hits in a brilliant American League career. At the latest count he was 28 hits short.

"It will mean a lot to me," said the veteran Baltimore infielder, who alternates between first base and his old third base job this spring. "Last winter I thought about retiring to the farm (in Swifton, Ark.) but I decided to give it one more whirl at least to get those 2,000 hits. They tell me I'll be the 100th player to do it."

Although Kell at 33 hasn't long to go in the majors, he is a cinch to hit the 2,000 mark within a month. Three Wednesday brought his total to 1,972.

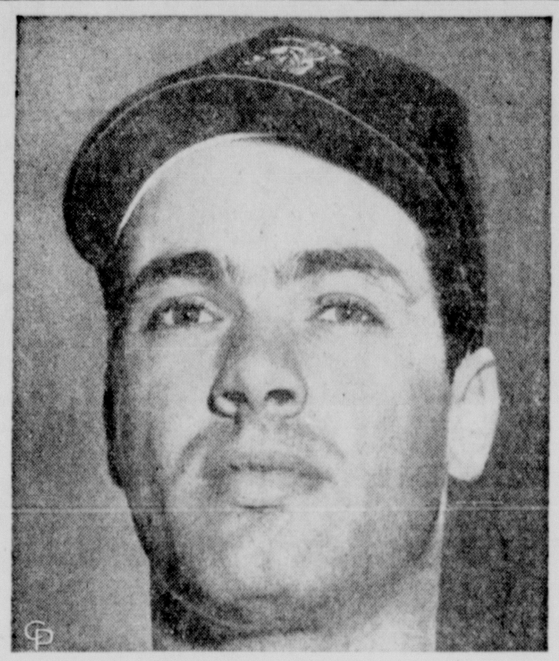

Big Ten Baseball Card Opens Friday

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten baseball season opens Friday with Minnesota's defending champions meeting a formidable opponent in Northwestern's Wildcats.

While Minnesota and Northwestern battle at Evanston, Illinois will be at Purdue, Michigan State at Indiana, Michigan at Ohio State and Iowa at Wisconsin.

Minnesota slugged its way to the title last year with a team average of .320 and 29 home runs in 13 conference games. The Gophers figure to be just as tough this year.

Exciting Deeds Expected At National Open in Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — If tradition means anything, golf fans may look for some exciting and unprecedented deeds when the 57th National Open is staged at Toledo Inverness June 13-15.

For upon that historic battle - ground some of the most intriguing chapters of golfdom's story have been written.

The upcoming contest of the country's classiest club-swingers will be the third at Inverness. The previous two offered everything.

It was back in 1920 that Inverness' rolling terrain, tree infested and well tapped, first tested the talented divot-diggers. Ted Ray, 43-year-old Brion and oldest man ever to win the Open, triumphed with 295.

That was the last time the title went abroad. Twenty years before Harry Vardon of England had won it with a huge 313 at Chicago. Vardon, 50 years old at Inverness, led by five strokes with seven holes to play, but played 'em in even fives and Ray slipped into the victor's seat.

Vardon wound up a stroke back in a tie with Leo Diegel, Jock Hutchison and Jack Burke, the latter the dad of Jackie Burke, current PGA champion and winner of the 1956 Masters crown.

But the big news about 1920 at Inverness was that two of golfing's brightest stars made their debut there. It was the first Open for both Bobby Jones, the gorgeous Georgian amateur who went on to win four titles against the best professionals in the land, and Gene Sarazen, who never played an amateur round in his life, but who was to win two Opens and tie for another in three different decades.

In the final analysis, Ray's win was wrapped around four birdies on the seventh hole, a feat none of the others could match. Ray, taking a shortcut across a deep ravine to eliminate a long dogleg route, hit the green four times from the tee. Tall trees now prevent all but the most intrepid competitors from trying the all-air route.

Jones, who finished in an eighth-place tie with 299, had one of his great golf lessons in the opening round, playing as Vardon's partner. Each had tried the hit-the-green tactic from the seventh tee, and each was a mite short.

Vardon, using the cleek so popular in those days, nursed his short approach beside the cup for a certain birdie. Jones, although closer to the hole, decided on a niblick. He topped the ball into a trap across the green and wound up with a five.

As they started to the next tee, 18-year-old Bobby turned to taciurn Vardon, 32 years his senior, and asked:

"Did you ever see a worse shot than my niblick back there?"

And Vardon's answer was a terse:

"No!"

Jones said later that was the last time he ever took a chance on a golf course, unless circumstances demanded it. His record shows his play-it-safe plan paid off.

The Open came back to Inverness in 1931. And again history was made.

With the regulation 72 holes out of the way, Billy Burke and George Von Elm were deadlocked at 292. The latter got a birdie on the 72nd to get into the tie.

The next day they played another 36, and Von Elm birdied the last hole to tie again at 149. Another 36-holer the following day found Burke, then of the Round Hill Club of Greenwich, Conn., winning by 148 to 149 as Von Elm's luck on the last hole failed to produce the necessary birdie in the clutch.

That was the longest playoff in golfing history, and it can never happen again. Under today's rules if a tie exists at the end of 72, the gladiators go 18 holes. If the tie is still on, the "sudden death" plan goes into effect.

So, two tourneys at Inverness have seen the title go to a foreign land for the last time; the debu of Jones and Sarazen, two of the game's greatest; and the longest playoff in history.

In the clubhouse cardroom at Inverness are three pictures.

Under one the caption reads "First Clubhouse, Built 1903, Burned 1911." Under the second the note says "Second Clubhouse, Built 1912, Burned 1918." The third caption declaims "Third Clubhouse, Built 1919-1920, not Burned Yet."

Maybe they'll have to burn the structure down to match the excitement of the previous Opens here — but the chances are the players will furnish enough fireworks to prevent that. Big things happen here.

Scioto Twp. Tops Franklin Heights, 5-3

Scioto Township's Buffalo baseball squad, behind the three-hit pitching of Roger Knapp, won a 5 to 3 decision over Franklin Heights of Columbus Southview park yesterday.

The victory for Coach Joe Corbett's Buffalo nine came on 12 hits, four of them for extra bases.

The hitting attack was paced by Dale Boone who had three-for-three including a double. Catcher Bill Whiteside poled a triple and a single in three trips to the plate. Delbert Neff and Kelley Little each collected a double and a single in three times at bat.

The winners scored three runs in the first frame and added their final wo in the seventh. In addition to holding the losers to three hits, Knapp fanned 10 and walked eight.

Del Flanagan Wins Decision Over Gavilan

ST. PAUL (AP) — Del Flanagan had the choicest victory of his welterweight comeback and the fattest check of his career rolled into a neat package today — and Kid Gavilan had a mild apology.

Flanagan outmaneuvered the onetime champion from start to finish Wednesday night for a remarkably simple 10-round decision before a crowd of 9,434.

It earned the St. Paul Irishman some $9,400, or 25 per cent of the net. Gavilan, who failed to win a round on any of the three official scorecards, netted about $10,400.

Gavilan, acknowledging that Flanagan was "one of the smartest" fighters he ever met in his long career, said he was sorry he couldn't make a better fight of it. But he couldn't agree that he didn't win so much as a round. Referee Billy McCabe had it 100-91, Judge John Stanton 100-92 and judge Dick Delaney 100-93.

Kansas City Clobbers Tribe, 17-6

KANSAS CITY (AP) — When the lights were turned off at Municipal Stadium here Wednesday night Kerby Farrell, manager of the Cleveland Indians, was probably still looking at the scoreboard with mixed emotions.

The Indians, lead by Roger Maris, had put on one of their best displays of hitting this season by collecting six runs on 10 hits.

Somewhere near the Indians' totals on the scoreboard, located 450 feet from home plate in right center field, was the spot where a home run by Harry "Suitcase" Simpson bounced off.

Simpson's homer, the first one ever to reach the scoreboard, was one of five hit by the Kansas City Athletics as they walloped the Indians, 17-6.

The A's went to work in a hurry on Bob Lemon, who started for the Tribe. They chased him with two men out in the second inning, collecting five runs on six hits.

A succession of Cleveland pitchers, Stan Pitula, Dick Tomanek, Art Houtteman and Cal McLish fared just as badly at the hands of the ferocious A's.

The Indians were to play the A's here this afternoon and then return home Friday night for a four-game series with Detroit.

Gomes Collects KO Seeks 'More Work'

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Featherweight Harold Gomes, a clever boxer with a hefty punch in both hands, looked around for "more work" today after posting his 11th straight victory and 20th knockout in 42 pro bouts.

Gomes knocked out game Bobby Rogers of Chicago Wednesday night in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

"I hope it will get me some good shots," the 23-year-old New England featherweight champion said before 1,363 hometown fans and a national television audience.

Darby Trojans Down Jackson Twp. Team, 8-6

Darby Township's baseball nine downed Jackson in a hard-fought 8 to 6 contest yesterday in a tournament game played at Jackson.

Ronnie Gutheil proved to be the big gun for the winners with a two-run triple early in the game and a two-run single in the sixth frame which wrapped up the contest.

Starting the game as catcher, Gutheil took over pitching duties in the fifth and ended the game by striking out seven of the 10 men to face him.

Darby jumped off to a quick lead, scoring five times in the first inning. However Jackson rallied in the top of the fifth to go ahead, 6-5. The Darby Trojans roared back in the bottom of the sixth to push three tallies across the plate which proved sufficient for victory.

NED MUSSELMAN started on the mound for Darby, but was relieved by Gutheil in the fifth. Ed Longberry handled pitching duties for Jackson.

Charlie Galloway was the hitting star for the losers, collecting two bingles.

Sidearmed Javelin Thrower Ineligible

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A sidearmed javelin thrower from Puerto Rico who tossed the spear farther than the world's record distance Wednesday is ineligible for the Penn Relays.

Miglel Salcedo, 23, is the man with the unorthodox style.

Bob Paul, University of Pennsylvania sports information director, said Salcedo is a transfer student from Spain and must wait a full year before he can compete under NCAA rules.

Wednesday while tuning up for the relays Miguel uncorked a throw of 287 feet on his fourth practice toss. The world's record is 282 feet, 2 inches.

'Rest Cure' Seen Big Help For Inman

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Walker Inman Jr. offered the "rest cure" today as a remedy for oversize golf scores.

Starting in only his second tournament of the current tour, the Bolton, Mass., perfectionist has a sizzling 67 to prove his point in the Kentucky Derby Open.

Realizing that the tourney grind was telling in his tired muscles, the transplanted Georgian took the winter off.

"I just needed the rest," he said after Wednesday's pacesetting 18 holes over a generally troublesome Seneca Course.

After warming up with a tie for 21st place in the recent Greensboro Open, Inman did what only nine other sharp shooters could do—improve on Seneca's par.

His closest pursuers today as 116 golfers started the second 18 of the 72-hole showdown was Billy Casper Jr. of Bonita, Calif., who toured the 6,575 yards in 68.

In solid contention with 69s were Peter Thomson, the three-time British Open champ from Melbourne, Austrlia; 1955 National Open kingpin Jack Fleck and Bobby Maxwell of Dallas.

Doug Ford, the Masters winner, was four strokes off the pace with an even-par 71. Dow Finsterwald had 72.

Dayton Net Star Scores Upset Win

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Barry MacKay swept into the quarterfinals of the 23rd annual River Oaks Tennis Tournament today after staging an upset. The National Indoors Doubles champion from Dayton, Ohio, eliminated seventh seeded Don Candy of Australia.

MacKay draws Dick Savitt in today's quarterfinals.

Exciting Deeds Expected At National Open in Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — If tradition means anything, golf fans may look for some exciting and unprecedented deeds when the 57th National Open is staged at Toledo Inverness June 13-15.

For upon that historic battle ground some of the most intriguing chapters of golfdom's story have been written.

The upcoming contest of the country's classiest club-swingers will be the third at Inverness. The previous two offered everything.

It was back in 1920 that Inverness' rolling terrain, tree infested and well tapped, first tested the talented divot-diggers. Ted Ray, 43-year-old Brion and oldest man ever to win the Open, triumphed with 295.

That was the last time the title went abroad. Twenty years before Harry Vardon of England had won it with a huge 313 at Chicago. Vardon, 50 years old at Inverness, led by five strokes with seven holes to play, but played 'em in even fives and Ray slipped into the victor's seat.

Vardon wound up a stroke back in a tie with Leo Diegel, Jock Hutchison and Jack Burke, the latter the dad of Jackie Burke, current PGA champion and winner of the 1956 Masters crown.

But the big news about 1920 at Inverness was that two of golfing's brightest stars made their debut there. It was the first Open for both Bobby Jones, the gorgeous Georgian amateur who went on to win four titles against the best professionals in the land, and Gene Sarazen, who never played an amateur round in his life, but who was to win two Opens and tie for another in three different decades.

In the final analysis, Ray's win was wrapped around four birdies on the seventh hole, a feat none of the others could match. Ray, taking a shortcut across a deep ravine to eliminate a long dogleg route, hit the green four times from the tee. Tall trees now prevent all but the most intrepid competitors from trying the all-air route.

Jones, who finished in an eighth-place tie with 299, had one of his great golf lessions in the opening round, playing as Vardon's partner. Each had tried the hit-the-green tactic from the seventh tee, and each was a mite short.

Vardon, using the cleek so popular in those days, nursed his short approach beside the cup for a certain birdie. Jones, although closer to the hole, decided on a niblick. He topped the ball into a trap across the green and wound up with a five.

As they started to the next tee, 18-year-old Bobby turned to taciurn Vardon, 32 years his senior, and asked:

"Did you ever see a worse shot than my niblick back there?"

And Vardon's answer was a terse:

"No!"

Jones said later that was the last time he ever took a chance on a golf course, unless circumstances demanded it. His record shows his play-it-safe plan paid off.

The Open came back to Inverness in 1931. And again history was made.

With the regulation 72 holes out of the way, Billy Burke and George Von Elm were deadlocked at 292. The latter got a birdie on the 72nd to get into the tie.

The next day they played another 36, and Von Elm birdied the last hole to tie again at 149. Another 36-holer the following day found Burke, then of the Round Hill Club of Greenwich, Conn., winning by 148 to 149 as Von Elm's luck on the last hole failed to produce the necessary birdie in the clutch.

That was the longest playoff in golfing history, and it can never happen again. Under today's rules if a tie exists at the end of 72, the gladiators go 18 holes. If the tie is still on, the "sudden death" plan goes into effect.

So, two tourneys at Inverness have seen the title go to a foreign land for the last time; the debu of Jones and Sarazen, two of the game's greatest; and the longest playoff in history.

In the clubhouse cardroom at Inverness are three pictures.

Under one the caption reads "First Clubhouse, Built 1903, Burned 1911." Under the second the note says "Second Clubhouse, Built 1912, Burned 1918." The third caption declaims "Third Clubhouse, Built 1919-1920, not Burned Yet."

Maybe they'll have to burn the structure down to match the excitement of the previous Opens here — but the chances are the players will furnish enough fireworks to prevent that. Big things happen here.

Scioto Twp. Tops Franklin Heights, 5-3

Scioto Township's Buffalo baseball squad, behind the three-hit pitching of Roger Knapp, won a 5 to 3 decision over Franklin Heights of Columbus Southview park yesterday.

The victory for Coach Joe Corbett's Buffalo nine came on 12 hits, four of them for extra bases.

The hitting attack was paced by Dale Boone who had three-for-three including a double. Catcher Bill Whiteside poled a triple and a single in three trips to the plate. Delbert Neff and Kelley Little each collected a double and a single in three times at bat.

The winners scored three runs in the first frame and added their final wo in the seventh. In addition to holding the losers to three hits, Knapp fanned 10 and walked eight.

Del Flanagan Wins Decision Over Gavilan

ST. PAUL (AP) — Del Flanagan had the choicest victory of his welterweight comeback and the fattest check of his career rolled into a neat package today — and Kid Gavilan had a mild apology.

Flanagan outmaneuvered the onetime champion from start to finish Wednesday night for a remarkably simple 10-round decision before a crowd of 9,434.

It earned the St. Paul Irishman some $9,400, or 25 per cent of the net. Gavilan, who failed to win a round on any of the three official scorecards, netted about $10,400.

Gavilan, acknowledging that Flanagan was "one of the smartest" fighters he ever met in his long career, said he was sorry he couldn't make a better fight of it. But he couldn't agree that he didn't win so much as a round. Referee Billy McCabe had it 100-91, Judge John Stanton 100-92 and judge Dick Delaney 100-93.

Gomes Collects KO Seeks 'More Work'

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Featherweight Harold Gomes, a clever boxer with a hefty punch in both hands, looked around for "more work" today after posting his 11th straight victory and 20th knockout in 42 pro bouts.

Gomes knocked out game Bobby Rogers of Chicago Wednesday night in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

"I hope it will get me some good shots," the 23-year-old New England featherweight champion said before 1,363 hometown fans and a national television audience.

Kansas City Clobbers Tribe, 17-6

KANSAS CITY (AP) — When the lights were turned off at Municipal Stadium here Wednesday night Kerby Farrell, manager of the Cleveland Indians, was probably still looking at the scoreboard with mixed emotions.

The Indians, lead by Roger Maris, had put on one of their best displays of hitting this season by collecting six runs on 10 hits.

Somewhere near the Indians' totals on the scoreboard, located 450 feet from home plate in right center field, was the spot where a home run by Harry "Suitcase" Simpson bounced off.

Simpson's homer, the first one ever to reach the scoreboard, was one of five hit by the Kansas City Athletics as they walloped the Indians, 17-6.

The A's went to work in a hurry on Bob Lemon, who started for the Tribe. They chased him with two men out in the second inning, collecting five runs on six hits.

A succession of Cleveland pitchers, Stan Pitula, Dick Tomanek, Art Houtteman and Cal McLish fared just as badly at the hands of the ferocious A's.

The Indians were to play the A's here this afternoon and then return home Friday night for a four-game series with Detroit.

Darby Trojans Down Jackson Twp. Team, 8-6

Darby Township's baseball nine downed Jackson in a hard-fought 8 to 6 contest yesterday in a tournament game played at Jackson.

Ronnie Gutheil proved to be the big gun for the winners with a two-run triple early in the game and a two-run single in the sixth frame which wrapped up the contest.

Starting the game as catcher, Gutheil took over pitching duties in the fifth and ended the game by striking out seven of the 10 men to face him.

Darby jumped off to a quick lead, scoring five times in the first inning. However Jackson rallied in the top of the fifth to go ahead, 6-5. The Darby Trojans roared back in the bottom of the sixth to push three tallies across the plate which proved sufficient for victory.

NED MUSSELMAN started on the mound for Darby, but was relieved by Gutheil in the fifth. Ed Longberry handled pitching duties for Jackson.

Charlie Galloway was the hitting star for the losers, collecting two bingles.

Sidearmed Javelin Thrower Ineligible

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A sidearmed javelin thrower from Puerto Rico who tossed the spear farther than the world's record distance Wednesday is ineligible for the Penn Relays.

Miglel Salcedo, 23, is the man with the unorthodox style.

Bob Paul, University of Pennsylvania sports information director, said Salcedo is a transfer student from Spain and must wait a full year before he can compete under NCAA rules.

Wednesday while tuning up for the relays Miguel uncorked a throw of 287 feet on his fourth practice toss. The world's record is 282 feet, 2 inches.

'Rest Cure' Seen Big Help For Inman

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Walker Inman Jr. offered the "rest cure" today as a remedy for oversize golf scores.

Starting in only his second tournament of the current tour, the Bolton, Mass., perfectionist has a sizzling 67 to prove his point in the Kentucky Derby Open.

Realizing that the tourney grind was telling in his tired muscles, the transplanted Georgian took the winter off.

"I just needed the rest," he said after Wednesday's pacesetting 18 holes over a generally troublesome Seneca Course.

After warming up with a tie for 21st place in the recent Greensboro Open, Inman did what only nine other sharp shooters could do—improve on Seneca's par.

His closest pursuers today as 116 golfers started the second 18 of the 72-hole showdown was Billy Casper Jr. of Bonita, Calif., who toured the 6,575 yards in 68.

In solid contention with 69s were Peter Thomson, the three-time British Open champ from Melbourne, Austrlia; 1955 National Open kingpin Jack Fleck and Bobby Maxwell of Dallas.

Doug Ford, the Masters winner, was four strokes off the pace with an even-par 71. Dow Finsterwald had 72.

Dayton Net Star Scores Upset Win

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Barry MacKay swept into the quarterfinals of the 23rd annual River Oaks Tennis Tournament today after staging an upset. The National Indoors Doubles champion from Dayton, Ohio, eliminated seventh seeded Don Candy of Australia.

MacKay draws Dick Savitt in today's quarterfinals.

Blue Grass Stake Faces Derby Colts

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Half a dozen sophomore colts sought today to build Kentucky Derby prestige in the Blue Grass Stakes, burying ground of many Derby ambitions.

The $25,000-added 1¼ mile test at Keeneland offered the colts one of their final opportunities to get ready for the big race at Louisville a week from Saturday.

But, riding with them was the jinx that only two Blue Grass winners — Bubbling Over in 1926 and Shut Out in 1942—have ever won the Derby.

Sentiment leaned toward Round Table, Shan Pac and One - Eyed King as the trio most likely to graduate from today's prep to the Derby. The rest of the lineup included Manteau, Lucky Dip and Breezy Night, the latter a non-winner this year and surprise entrant.

Round Table, the Oklahoma-owned, Kentucky - bred son of Princequillo, drew the full Derby impost of 126 pounds. Bubbling Over carried that weight when he won the Blue Grass and Faultless toted the same poundage in 1947.

Blue Grass allowance conditions permitted Round Table's rivals to come in at 121 pounds as non-winners of a stakes.

The lineup of six offered a gross purse of $31,000 with $19,600 awaiting the winner.

Blue Grass Stake Faces Derby Colts

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Half a dozen sophomore colts sought today to build Kentucky Derby prestige in the Blue Grass Stakes, burying ground of many Derby ambitions.

The $25,000-added 1½ mile test at Keeneland offered the colts one of their final opportunities to get ready for the big race at Louisville a week from Saturday.

But, riding with them was the jinx that only two Blue Grass winners — Bubbling Over in 1926 and Shut Out in 1942—have ever won the Derby.

Sentiment leaned toward Round Table, Shan Pac and One - Eyed King as the trio most likely to graduate from today's prep to the Derby. The rest of the lineup included Manteau, Lucky Dip and Breezy Night, the latter a nonwinner this year and surprise entrant.

Round Table, the Oklahoma-owned, Kentucky - bred son of Princequillo, drew the full Derby impost of 126 pounds. Bubbling Over carried that weight when he won the Blue Grass and Faultless toted the same poundage in 1947.

Blue Grass allowance conditions permitted Round Table's rivals to come in at 121 pounds as nonwinners of a stakes.

The lineup of six offered a gross purse of $31,000 with $19,600 awaiting the winner.

Tractor Pins Farmer In Water-Filled Ditch

BOWLING GREEN (AP) — A 62-year-old farmer drowned Wednesday night, police said, when the tractor he was driving pinned him in a water-filled ditch. The farmer, Alva Smith, Rt. 1, Cygnet, was plowing a field on a farm owned by Ernest H. Aufdencamp about 12 miles south of here.

Billy Graham Said 'Danger' To Catholics

NEW YORK (AP) — A leading Roman Catholic spokesman said today that evangeist Billy Graham is "a danger to the faith" for Catholics, and that they should stay away from his forthcoming New York crusade.

In the current issue of the Homiletic and Pastoral Review, a magazine for Catholic priests, the Rev. John E. Kelly said that Graham's services are Protestant in nature —and Catholics are forbidden to attend such services.

Father Kelly, director of the bureau of information of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, Washington, D. C., said Graham "is certainly a man of prayer, humble, dedicated, devout."

But he cited various reasons why he said Catholics should not attend the evangelist's services— a main one being that he does not accept the Roman Catholic position of being the only true church.

Father Kelly said Graham preaches many true doctrines, but avoids some essential ones, and thus his "converts are only half saved."

He said Catholics should not listen to Graham's broadcasts because "so well constructed are his sermons, so interwoven is true and false doctrine, so forceful and persuasive is his delivery, that even a fairly well instructed Catholic may be deceived."

AKRON (AP) — Billy McCoy, 44, was charged with first degree manslaughter Wednesday in the shooting of Royce Brown, 35, during what police said was an argument over a girl friend. Brown, shot through the forehead, died Monday in Akron General Hospital.

Two Schools' Books OKd

Reports of examinations of the Wayne and Walnut Local school district records were released today by State Auditor James A. Rhodes. The audit period was from August 31, 1955 to March 30, 1957.

Depository balance of the Walnut District in March was listed as $36,891.75, with outstanding checks of $3,363.72. The bonded debt is $155,000.

Wayne local school district had a depository balance of $12,166.96 and outstanding warrants of $7.90. The bonded debt was $4,500.

In the Walnut report it was pointed out that the Walnut Board of Education had unlawfully procured liability insurance for school employees. According to state law the only kind of liability or accident insurance that a board of education may lawfully purchase is that having to do with the operation of its school buses.

The audit of the two school districts was made by the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices.

Chicagoan Hinted Successor To Beck

CHICAGO (AP) — William A. Lee, veteran union leader, has resigned as head of the Chicago Civil Service Commission, spurring reports he may be a candidate for president of the International Teamsters' Union.

Lee, a vice president of the Teamsters, has been mentioned as receiving unsolicited backing of strong forces within the Teamsters Union to run as a "dark horse" to replace Dave Beck as president. Beck is under fire by a Senate committee in connection with the handling of union funds.

Lee, in a letter to Mayor Richard E. Daley, asked to leave the Civil Service post because of additional duties and responsibilities in his union positions.

Traveling Clinic Assures Better OK Used Cars

Local buyers can look forward to scientifically reconditioned used cars and trucks at lower prices, thanks to the Chevrolet OK Mobile Reconditioning Clinic that's setting up shop here this week.

Factory-guided methods, involving the latest reconditioning equipment and techniques, are being introduced in our used car and truck department. The clinic program is designed to offer our customers used cars that are inspected and reconditioned to meet rigid OK standards. These OK'd used cars are backed with our dealer warranty in writing.

Factory-guided methods and mobile clinic equipment bring new reconditioning efficiency and greater value at lower costs.

New OK Reconditioning Methods Improve Used Car and Truck Values

Chevrolet's mobile clinics, conducted by skilled instructors, cover the many checkpoints that trade-ins must pass to become qualified for the OK tag. The rigid OK routine embraces many scientific improvements in reconditioning processes that result in better-than-ever used cars and trucks. Savings in reconditioning costs are passed on to the buyer.

The factory-guided OK procedure covers both appearance and engine reconditioning — and includes thorough inspection of all functional units such as brakes and steering. Nothing is overlooked to assure OK buyers a high standard of safety, performance and value.
